SHARP VOTE TEST FOR NEW FRENCH GOVERNMENT

Mayor Makes Appeal To Roosevelt After Strike Dynamiting

Head of Johnstown, Pa., Council Asks Intervention in Steel Dispute

Water Lines To Plants Broken

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Mayor Daniel J. Shields of Johnstown telegraphed President Roosevelt today that the "people of my city may take the law in their own hands" unless the John L. Lewis steel union forces are withdrawn.

"I appeal to you direct," the mayor said, "to make it possible for good citizens of my community to enjoy liberty for which our forefathers spilled blood, and this can be accomplished by the overthrow of the un-American empire that John L. Lewis is building up."

In a second telegram to Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania protesting the dynamiting of two water lines to the Bethlehem Steel Corporation's Cambria works, Mayor Shields asked state police be placed immediately on guard at all reservoirs in the territory.

WARREN, O. (AP)—Dynamite blasted the steel strike in the United States wide open today. It severed two vital pipelines that feed water to Bethlehem Steel's sprawling Cambria works at Johnstown, Pa., threatening tremendous damage and menacing thousands of jobs.

But at Warren, ricocheting from last week's "campaign of terror," it impaled the name of one C.I.O.'s leaders, the brawny Gus Hall, on a warrant that paints him as the master mind and instigator of a desperate plot of violence, terrorism and destruction. The two explosions at Johnstown, ripping away pipelines supplying water to the big Franklin mill and the Gautier plant—major units of the Cambria works—may mean the closing of the entire works for two weeks. General Manager C. R. Ellicott said.

He immediately ordered five blast furnaces banked, and closed fifteen open hearths and the Franklin rolling mill. Water was temporarily turned into the company's lines from the Johnstown system.

Two hundred state police closed every road leading to the works. Thus on both the Pennsylvania and Ohio fronts, quiet for days, every force of law was flung suddenly into a hunt for men wanted for the worst terrorism of the 34-day strike.

DYNAMITE PLOT BARED

Here a warrant was issued charging Hall, director of the C.I.O. strike on the Warren-Niles front, with having plotted the

Premier King Has Conversation With Adolf Hitler In Berlin

Exchange of Views Was "Valuable," Canadian Leader Tells Press

BERLIN (CP)—For an hour and a quarter Prime Minister Mackenzie King talked with Chancellor Hitler today.

"Most interesting and most valuable," he told correspondents afterwards. But further on the nature of their conversations he refused to go.

"All I can say is, that it was most interesting and most valuable," the Canadian Premier repeated.

Earlier in the morning Mr. King had a talk of an hour and a half with Air Minister Goering. His talk with Hitler took place

Earhart Plane In New Guinea

SYDNEY, Australia—After a six-hour-and-41-minute hop from Port Darwin, Australia, Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Capt. F. J. Noonan, landed at Lake, New Guinea, at 5 a.m. G.M.T., Thursday (9 Monday night, P.S.T.). They plan to leave next for Howland Island, a dot on the map just above the Equator in mid-Pacific, in continuing their flight around the world.

LAST FLIGHT WITH AIRMAIL

Pilot Percy Barnes Quits Run With Expiry of Contract

Airmail service between Victoria and Seattle, which for many years has been maintained by the United States government to give mail connections with all incoming and outgoing liners touching at this port, terminated today with the arrival of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan.

The service was started by Eddie Hubbard in 1920.

It was announced recently by the U.S. government that the airmail contract would not be renewed with its expiry June 29.

Pilot Percy Barnes, who has piloted his plane here in fair and foul weather to pick up mails for delivery at Seattle, flew low over the water as the Empress liner came to her berth at the Rithet Docks.

He crossed the stern of the ship and proceeded to the landing in Esquimalt Harbor.

After the 26 bags of airmail had been stowed in the cockpit the air pilot took off on his last official trip.

The Victoria post office was notified yesterday that today's arrival would be the last under the mail contract.

Little Change In Weather Seen

Clouds screened the sun this morning and dropped the temperature 10 degrees. The official thermometer on Gonzales Hill showed 62 degrees at 11 o'clock. Yesterday the mercury reached 74 degrees in the late afternoon.

W. A. Thorn, director of the Victoria Meteorological Observatory, expects little change.

"I would like to see the unsettled condition just off the coast pass before saying anything about Dominion Day," he said. "There is very little indication of rain."

California Hunts Man Who Killed Three Children

Police "Start From Scratch" As Dragnet Formed For Triple Slayer

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Law forces of Southern California formed a dragnet today to ferret out the fiend who kidnapped three little girls here last Saturday night, took them to a gully in the hills and attacked and strangled them to death.

"We are starting from scratch," said Captain William Penprase, "but we believe he soon will be found."

Coroner Frank Nance set Friday morning for the inquest on the bodies of Melba Marie Everett, nine; her sister, Madeline Everett, seven, and their friend, Jeanette Marjorie Stephens, eight.

The search was concentrated today on a battered roadster automobile, like a 1929 model Ford, without top, fenders or running-board, black in color and with a box-like body in the rear.

Such a car was seen early Saturday afternoon in Inglewood with the three girls in it, and later in the evening was seen leaving the hills where the bodies of the children were found yesterday afternoon.

Lyndwood police said motorists saw such a car in that area early today, but it eluded chase.

GOVERNOR'S PLEA

Governor Merriam called on all county, municipal and state officers to "search for a fiend who is on the loose and must be caught."

Santa Monica police said an automobile resembling the murder car was seen Saturday morning—before the kidnapping—near the Venice High School in the Bay district.

A Bel-Air home butler told police a young man sought to sell such a car last night, but disappeared when he went into the house to summon the police.

MANY SAW MAN

A number of children have been found who said they saw the man who kidnapped and slew the three girls, and that he had sought to entice them to "hunt rabbits" before he lured the girls away.

The garroted and bruised bodies of Melba and Madeline Everett and Jeanette Stephens were found yesterday in the Baldwin Hills, four miles from here.

Metric System For China Cars

NANKING, China—Officials today were enforcing the order of the Nanking executive Yuan that speedometers on all automobiles, trucks and motorcycles in China be changed to register kilometres instead of miles, and gasoline and oil gauges from gallons to litres.

Most of China's cars were manufactured in the United States, and register speed and gasoline consumption in miles and gallons.

GOVERNOR IS BACK ON COAST

Hon. E. W. Hamber Says Coronation Events Added to Empire Unity

VANCOUVER — Lieutenant Governor Eric Hamber, British Columbia's only official representative at the Coronation, arrived here today on his way to Victoria and told those who welcomed him that the demonstrations attending the crowning of King George VI were "a verification of the liberty, freedom and unity of the British Empire."

He described the ceremonies as a "display of reverence, pomp and dignity combined with one of the most outstanding demonstrations of loyalty and affection to the throne from every quarter of the Empire."

Mr. Hamber was accompanied by Mrs. Hamber and her mother, Mrs. John Hendry, and by his secretary, A. M. D. Fairbairn.

BUCHANAN, Sask.—When their automobile crashed into a train, five persons were instantly killed at a level crossing near here today. The victims were: John Hachakevitch, 60; Mrs. Hachakevitch, 57; John Hachakevitch, 19, and Alice Podowski, 19.

Aberhart Will Come to Coast

EDMONTON—Premier Aberhart expects to leave Thursday for a brief holiday with relatives at Vancouver. Although the Premier's plans have not been definitely arranged, he anticipates being away a week or 10 days. During his absence, Attorney-General J. W. Huggill likely will be Acting Premier.

Relief System May Be Changed

New Method of Handling Problem Is Talked Over With Government

Changes in the handling of the relief problem in Vancouver, a possible forerunner of new methods for dealing with relief generally throughout the province, were discussed today with the Provincial Government by Alderman P. Pettipiece and Fred Crone, M.P.P.-elect of Vancouver.

Officials of the employment service and the relief department took part in the discussions.

Alderman Pettipiece said he was not prepared to give any details until after he had seen Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, this afternoon, but declared:

"We are making an honest endeavor to co-ordinate all interests and activities dealing with the relief problem seeking a more definite and more practical solution than ever before."

It was understood the discussions centred upon the problem of getting men off the relief rolls into jobs.

Vancouver for some months has had a "work test" system in conjunction with the government and has found that many of those applying for relief failed to show up for the work test.

B.C. CAR IN DEATH PLUNGE

GRAND FORKS, B.C.—Three men were killed near here today when their car plunged down a 200-foot cliff into the waters of Granby Dam. Two other occupants of the car leapt to safety before it crashed over the precipice.

The dead are Werner Sjoman, 40, Kimberley; Chester Mills, 58, and Carl Washolm, 25, both of Grand Forks. The two who escaped are Charles Clark and John Juppia.

The men were returning to Grand Forks from the home of John Shurinak.

Trinidad Strike May Be Settled

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad—Negotiations towards settlement of oil-field strikes that have harassed this West Indies island for more than a week were officially described as "more hopeful" today.

Workers in many cases presented long lists of grievances to a mediation committee.

The committee urged a return to work while the problems were being investigated.

HALTS RULING ON EVICTION

Further Statement on Facts Asked By Magistrate in Sheriff's Case

To permit the introduction of additional evidence, requested by the court, the decision on the traffic obstruction charge against Sheriff H. W. Goggin and his deputy, Robert Sangster, was delayed until Friday morning when the case was called in the City Police Court this morning.

The case followed the execution of an eviction order by the sheriff.

Magistrate Henry Hall said that in preparing his judgment in the case he had discovered an omission in the statement of facts presented by the prosecution and defence in the case.

He noted that while the statement admitted the placing of the furniture on the street as an obstruction, it was not noted whether the goods had been removed at once.

In the arguments which C. L. Harrison, prosecutor, and Alan Maclean, defence counsel, had presented, the magistrate said there had been the assumption that they were not moved, but this was not proved in evidence.

He suggested there should be a supplement to the statement of fact in which this detail was covered.

Mr. Harrison and W. B. Colvin, of the Attorney-General's Department, who appeared for Mr. Maclean, agree to have this done.

Great Harvester Plant In Illinois Is Swept By Fire

Six Cities' Brigades Try to Save Mills at Canton, Ill.

CANTON, Ill. (AP)—Flames which firemen from six cities said were out of control, raged through the $3,000,000 plant of the International Harvester Company here this afternoon.

The plant, which covers an area of 10 blocks in the heart of the city, is of brick, steel and concrete construction.

Firemen said the fire started in the paint department. Cause was unknown.

Fire departments from Peoria, Galesburg, Farmington, Cuba and Elmwood were summoned to aid Canton's.

U.S. STEEL PAYS $2 DIVIDEND

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of the United States Steel Corporation today declared a dividend of $2 a share on the $7 preferred stock, reducing the arrears to $1.25 a share.

On May 25 a dividend of $2 a share on the senior stock was declared.

The latest payment calls for distribution of $7,205,000. It cuts the arrears, accumulated during the worst depression years, from a peak of $18.25 a share.

Recovery in steel operations has put the big producer back into the profit money on a substantial scale. Wall Street statisticians had predicted second quarter profits probably would be best for the recovery period.

The dividend is payable July 30 on stock of record July 9.

By Margin of Only One Vote Committee Sends Finance Control Measure to Chamber of Deputies, Where Confidence in New Government Was Voted; Finance Minister Predicts Further Devaluation of Franc

Move to Halt Franc Exchange

PARIS (C.P.-Havas) — Jammy Schmidt, reporter for the Chamber of Deputies finance committee, told the lower house tonight the French government had asked the British and United States governments to suspend foreign exchange operations on the franc.

SCHOOLS CLOSE TWO MONTHS

Throughout B.C. 120,000 Children to Start Summer Holidays

School is out tomorrow — and 120,000 British Columbia children will be freed from studies for the two summer months.

High school matriculation and entrance class students are concluding their examinations this week and will know the results by July 23 or 24, the Department of Education said today.

Along with the children some 4,000 teachers have a two-months' summer vacation, which ends on September 1, when the schools reopen.

This year's will be the shortest school holiday on record, confined exactly to the two months of July and August. Usually the children have a few extra days at one end or the other of the holidays, but these are eliminated because the closing and opening days happen to fall exactly in the middle of the week.

Mr. Harrison and W. B. Colvin, of the Attorney-General's Department, who appeared for Mr. Maclean, agree to have this done.

GREAT DEFICIT

He estimated the total budget deficit at from 14,500,000,000 to 18,000,000,000 francs ($652,500,000 to $810,000,000).

Deputies said Mr. Bonnet had predicted further devaluation of the franc, saying "it is impossible to hold the franc at its present rate" of about 4½ cents.

He added, the deputies said, the government intended no longer to fix a minimum limit for the franc.

The 393 to 142 vote of confidence was given by the Chamber to Premier Chautemps on his demand that Chamber questioning of the government be postponed until his urgent request for sweeping financial powers was disposed of.

TO END ABUSES

He was asking for the "necessary powers" to re-establish France's fiscal structure on a firm basis and restore the country's confidence in itself by ending speculation abuses, conserving gold reserves, balancing the budget, watching over prices and "reviving national economy."

M. Chautemps demanded the preliminary confidence vote after some opposition had developed to his request questioning be put off.

POLICY DECLARED

The Premier, who has headed the second Popular Front government for a little more than a week, went to Chamber and Senate with a complete declaration.

Germany and Italy Reject British and French Spain Plan

LONDON (AP)—Germany and Italy rejected today a plan of Great Britain and France to patrol all of Spain's coasts in the interests of non-intervention.

Soviet Russia, one of the "big five" on the European Non-intervention Sub-committee, approved the proposal. Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Belgium also approved it.

The blunt refusal of Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to Great Britain, brought a speedy end to the sub-committee's session, which lasted less than two hours.

Both Von Ribbentrop and Grandi summed up their governments' position after the Earl of Plymouth, the chairman, had PARIS (CP-Havas)—By a narrow margin of 17 votes to 16, the Chamber of Deputies Finance committee tonight approved the bill giving the new Chautemps government extensive financial powers until August 31.

The measure, presented to the Chamber by the government earlier today, now goes directly to the lower House for debate and a vote tonight.

The vote came after the Chamber had declared confidence in the Chautemps ministry on a test ballot—393 to 142.

In the committee, five Communists and three Socialists, counted among the Premier's Popular Front supporters, refused to vote.

Finance Minister Georges Bonnet told the committee that the gold in the French exchange equalization fund was exhausted and 7,700,000,000 francs (about $346,500,000) in gold had been withdrawn from the Bank of France in June.

He estimated the total budget deficit at from 14,500,000,000 to 18,000,000,000 francs ($652,500,000 to $810,000,000).

outlined the Anglo-French proposal. They asked, hypothetically, what attitude Great Britain and France would take if the roles were reversed, if Germany and Italy suggested taking over the whole naval patrol.

At the same time, it was suggested officially, the Italian declared, that "not a single volunteer has left my country for Spain since the ban agreed on by this committee" (February 11).

It was also made known that Germany and Italy had advised their countrymen who have been serving as non-intervention observers in ports and on orders of Spain to resign.

Lord Plymouth, during the meeting, again raised the question.

PRESS GIVES WELCOME

Berlin papers meanwhile gave a warm welcome to the visiting statesman.

After relating his activities since arriving Sunday on the invitation of Joachim von Ribbentrop, German Ambassador to Great Britain, the Voelkischer Beobachter, chief Nazi organ, said:

"The Canadian Prime Minister is a welcome guest of Germany, especially in the capital, which, however, he is not visiting for the first time. In 1900 he lived several months as a student with a German family and Sunday evening the Prime Minister took the opportunity again to see the house where he once lived.

"Also in his native country, moreover, the Prime Minister has numerous connections with German blood (Heziehungen zu deutschem blut).

"In the year 1908 he entered the House of Commons for the first time, chosen a member for North Waterloo (Ontario) where numerous families of settlers of German origin are to be found.

"We hope our distinguished guest will feel himself as much at home as he did as a student 37 years ago."

FRIENDLY MEMORIES

The Berliner Tageblatt said: "The Canadian Prime Minister, Mackenzie King, in 1900 spent several months in Berlin as a student. He has retained from those days friendly recollections of Berlin and Germany and today speaks with lively pleasure of his Berlin experiences.

"His native town in Canada (in Waterloo County, where so many place names indicate German founders) bears the name of Berlin. In 1908 Mackenzie King was elected to the House of Commons for the first time by a following of essentially German descent (in erster linie deutsche gefolgschaft).

In 1921 he formed his first cabinet. In 1935 he succeeded the Conservative Prime Minister, R. B. Bennett, and with very skillful and successful balancing of Canada's American and Empire interests rendered great service to his country.

"Mackenzie King may be assured that he will find here a most sincere understanding of every similar effort for the adjustment of conflicting interests in world trade."

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, after a similar sketch of Mackenzie King's career, said: "We hope the Canadian Prime Minister may again spend happy days in Germany—a land to which, through his renewed visit, he brings friendship."

RUSSIA-JAPAN INCIDENT ENDS

Valera Objects To Port Division

ATHLONE, Ireland—President Eamon de Valera, in a speech here last night, said the Irish people owned the whole of Ireland and no other country had the right to pass laws giving away part of it.

Entering the final stage of his election campaign prior to Thursday's polling, De Valera declared he would not be satisfied until the whole of the nation's territory came under control of the Irish Free State.

There were ports over which Great Britain had control. Mr. de Valera maintained rights in these ports must be reserved for the Irish people alone. When this was done, he said, the Irish Free State would be in a position to meet the opposite island and say "we are in a position to consider our common interests and we will co-operate."

There could not be fundamentally sound and friendly relations, he continued, as long as the people of the other island were interfering.

The Irish Free State policy of self-sufficiency was succeeding and if a great war broke out, he said, the people of Ireland would not have to depend on sugar and bread tickets as they did from 1914 to 1918.

CHAUTEMPS WIDE POWERS BILL PRESSED

tion of policy that was headed by insistence on a free hand to take swift steps toward patching up the country's riddled money structure.

Although the Chamber granted the first confidence vote, neither there nor in the Senate was there any notable enthusiasm for the emergency programme.

Animosities between the Senate and Leon Blum, the Premier whom that body overthrew prior to formation of the Chautemps government, resulted in a shift of original plans for Blum to read the government's declaration there. Instead, Albert Sarraut, who like Blum now is a minister of state, read the statement. It got a cool reception.

Tentative suspension of dealings in gold and foreign exchange payment—to protect the franc during the parliamentary debate on financial reforms—was decreed by Finance Minister Bonnet shortly after last midnight.

Deputies said Brunet had informed them the government had advised Great Britain and the United States "of its desire to disengage the franc from the present parity with the dollar and pound."

France, Great Britain and the United States have been bound together for some time in a tripartite monetary agreement designed to stabilize their currencies.

Reports circulated in parliamentary circles that the franc might be forced down to the level that existed during the administration of the late Raymond Poincare—25 to the dollar, or four cents for each franc, half a cent less than at present.

Brunet was quoted as saying new tax measures contemplated by the government would bring in 2,000,000,000 francs (about $88,000,000) annually to help the regime out of its fiscal morass.

The cabinet, having moved France technically and temporarily off the gold standard, pressed its demand during the day that Parliament give it a free hand to decree the destiny of the franc.

Tentative suspension of dealings in gold and foreign exchange payment was described in official quarters as a "precautionary measure" to prevent speculation against the franc and government securities, and to check the outflow of gold until Parliament approves the financial programme of the Chautemps government.

"The financial debate should result in giving the franc more liberty in respect to foreign currencies than the devaluation law of October 1, 1936, left it," an official source said.

This was interpreted to mean the present range of the franc would be widened, permitting it to drop below 22.96 francs to the dollar (4.35 cents) which is the lowest level at present authorized under the October devaluation law.

The franc closed yesterday at 22.42 to the dollar, or 4.46 cents. The moratorium decree was interpreted as an embargo on gold, in effect throwing the nation off the gold standard. However, the measure, in force until further notice, would be only temporary, it was said.

Tokio Envoy Announces Both Sides to Recall Amur River Forces

Moscow (AP)—The Japanese embassy here announced today the Soviet Government would withdraw troops and gunboats concentrated at Bolshoi and Sennukha Islands in the Far East.

It also was announced Manchukuo will withdraw troops stationed on the nearby Amur River bank.

New clashes between Soviet Russian border guards and Japanese-Manchukuan soldiers along the Amur River (between Manchukuo and Siberia) were reported today in a dispatch from Khabarovsk.

The dispatch said the incidents of a "provocative nature" started May 31, and were designed to interrupt navigation as well as seize islands which Soviet Russia claims by reason of treaties dating back for nearly a century.

The report said armed Japanese-Manchukuan troops had landed June 20 at Sennukha and had fired on Soviet territory from there and also on a Soviet patrol boat which moved up to disperse the "invaders."

A report published in the Communist Party newspaper Pravda in Moscow indicated Soviet Russia had no intention of surrendering its claim to the islands or permitting their occupation by Japanese and Manchukuan.

PROTEST INVASION

TOKIO—The government of Japan today invoked the mutual assistance pact between Japan and Manchukuo and protested vigorously to the Soviet Government against alleged invasion of two Amur River islands—Sennukha and Bolshoi.

Members of the Japanese military high command said they took a grave view of the situation. Their action, they added, would depend on the tone of the reply from Moscow.

The protest was presented to the Soviet government by Mamoru Shigemitsu, ambassador to Russia.

Japan asserted the islands in the river belong to Manchukuo, and she demanded their immediate evacuation. The Amur River forms the northwestern boundary of the Japanese-occupied state of Manchukuo, adjoining Siberia.

The Manchukuo government was said to have made repeated protests against the alleged occupation of its territory, only to have them ignored in Moscow.

OPEN BREAK FEARED

Some observers expressed fear recurring border incidents, of which the occupation of Sennukha and Bolshoi was regarded as the most serious, might create an open break between Japan and Russia.

The latest incident was reported to have occurred June 27 near Chaimso, on the Ussuri River, where a Japanese was said to have been fatally shot as he was rowing in the river. He was a local government employee.

RED ARMY DEPRECATED

At the same time Japan was told by a high army commander she need have no fear of the Russian army. The statement was made at Harbin, Manchukuo, by Major-General Masaharu Homma, after a trip through Russia and Siberia.

The general, who attended the Coronation in London as a member of the suite of Prince Chichibu, is the only Japanese who has been permitted to enter Russia since the execution of eight Soviet war lords on charges of treasonable conspiracy with a foreign power.

In an interview with the Harbin correspondent of the newspaper Asahi, General Homma declared the executions had seriously weakened the Red Army.

He said the army was now on the verge of collapse and Japan need have no fear of it. It had been vastly over-rated, he said, adding:

"I was greatly disappointed in the Soviet Union generally."

SASKATCHEWAN IN NEED OF AID

REGINA—Saskatchewan is fast approaching an economic crisis as a result of province-wide crop failure and diminishing pasture and fodder supplies, according to conclusions advanced by government officials here today.

Provincial revenues are falling and municipalities in the south are clamoring for government aid to relieve distress and starvation.

Livestock are being shipped out to pasture in adjoining provinces, mostly Manitoba.

Manitoba In Lead in Crops

OTTAWA—Little relief from the drought conditions prevailing in Saskatchewan came during the last week, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today in its third crop report covering all Canada. Crops are doing well in Manitoba, but much of the wheat land in Saskatchewan is definitely beyond hope as far as commercial crop prospects are concerned.

ELECTRIC SIGN CAUSES DEATH

Hamilton Man Loses Life; Two in Hospital; Two Others Suffer

HAMILTON, Ont.—One died and two others were seriously injured today by electric shocks received from a sign over a gas-line station at the western entrance of the city.

James Sherring, Hamilton, lost his life and William Kralingen and Vernon Mills were taken to a hospital. Van Kralingen suffered a fracture of his left leg in falling from the sign. Both will recover, hospital authorities said.

Sherring and Van Kralingen were repainting the sign over the service station. Sherring was seen to go limp at the top of the high ladder and Van Kralingen supported him. Sherring had come in contact with a high tension current and was willing under the terrific shocks, but Van Kralingen hung on doggedly to support him although he, too, received heavy shocks.

Mills, with Percy Thompson, lessee of the station, and R. E. Carter climbed the ladder to go to their rescue and all suffered shocks when they reached the electrified part of the sign, Mills being hurled to the ground unconscious. Van Kralingen also crashed to the earth, while Sherring still hung limply to the sign.

NEW CONSUL COMING HERE

Reed Paige Clark Leaves Vienna Post to Succeed W. Keblinger

Reed Paige Clark, until recently U.S. consul-general at Vienna, has been appointed consul-general here, and will succeed Wilbur Keblinger when he arrives.

Mr. Clark entered the consular service in 1919, and has served in Loanda, Angola, Port Elizabeth, and Mexico City. As secretary in the diplomatic service he was assigned to Monrovia, and, returning to the consular service in 1926, he served in Mexico City and Guadalajara until 1928, when he went to Santa Domingo. In 1930 he was made consul at Belgrade and from there he went to Vienna.

Mr. Clark is a graduate of George Washington University and was a member of the bar of New Hampshire and later was clerk of the committee of the U.S. Senate. From 1911 to 1916 he was general receiver of customs and financial adviser to Liberia and during the war was a member of the New Hampshire Fuel Administration.

BIG RETURNS FROM MINES

Ground Has Produced $1,479,000,000 in B.C., $158,000,000 in Dividends

In the 40 years from 1897 to 1936 inclusive, the mines of British Columbia have paid $153,387,953 in dividends, according to the annual report of Dr. J. F. Walker, Deputy Minister of Mines, made public here today.

The total is divided as follows: Lode-gold mining, $37,618,815; silver-lead-zinc mining, $70,861,364; copper mining, $15,797,718; coal mining, $27,733,456; miscellaneous, $1,376,000.

Last year dividends totaled $10,513,705, a figure surpassed on only two previous occasions, $11,263,118 in 1929 and $10,543,500 in 1930. In 1933 the dividends dropped as low as $2,471,735.

Capital invested in the mining industry is placed at $142,553,065, salaries and wages last year $17,887,619, and number of men employed 14,180.

Mines of all kinds have produced $1,479,344,609 in wealth up to the end of 1936. The 1936 production was $54,081,967, an increase of $5,200,000 over the previous year. Gold production hit a new high level of $13,418,594. The mines department report

Missionaries Are Held in Russia

Espionage Charges Against 25 Baptists From the United States

MOSCOW (CP—Havas)—Twenty-five Baptist missionaries, who came to Russia in 1929 from the United States, have been arrested in White Russia and the Ukraine on charges of espionage, the newspaper Gudok, organ of the Commissariat of Railways, reported today.

The paper said the foreign missionary societies were accused of preparing spies and saboteurs in schools ostensibly established to turn out missionaries for the Soviet Union.

The "Trotskyist" trials, said the paper, were believed to have uncovered many priests among the "Trotskyist terrorists."

dynamiting of bridges, the blasting of railroad tracks, the bombing of steel mills and the light and power company, and the destruction by high explosives of the homes of non-strikers.

The warrant, police said, was backed by confessions of three of Hall's fellow unionists now in custody.

The Warren police, with three alleged terrorists already in jail, announced the hunt for Hall even as the back-to-work movement, which Hall and the C.I.O. are bitterly opposing, picked up momentum not only in the Mahoning Valley, but in Pennsylvania and in the Calumet industrial area of Indiana and Illinois.

The first explosion about midnight broke the six-foot line running from the 10,000,000-gallon Quemaehoning Dam, 11 miles south of Johnstown, to the Franklin mill, which consumes half of the water used by the Cambria works.

The second blast at 3.05 a.m., E.S.T., was heard for more than two miles. It snapped the 36-inch line from Border Dam to the Cautier mill, second largest division of the works.

Before the blasts curtailed the water supply, the corporation had speeded up working schedules while strikers stubbornly held their lines about the largest of seven gates to the mills.

PLANTS REOPENED

Companies in the Youngstown area, returning to normal schedules under police and National Guard protection, said all but one small plant was in operation today as they prepared to resume three-shift production.

The Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company reopened its rod and wire plant this morning. Officials announced about 900 of the 1,400 normally employed had reported for work.

Republic Steel reopened its Bessemer plant and said that 700 out of a normal force of 1,300 men had returned.

The only mill not yet operating is the small Hubbard unit of Sheet and Tube where 120 men are normally employed.

CONFERENCE URGED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. federal mediation board reported to Secretary of Labor Perkins today a "man to man discussion around the conference table" would be necessary to break the steel strike deadlock.

The report was made ready for Miss Perkins after Charles P. Taft, board chairman, and Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady, a board member, had conferred with her.

The Labor Secretary said in the report the board was reiterating its opinion a conference between steel corporation officials and leaders of the Committee for Industrial Organization would serve as a method to break the stalemate.

In stating the board's efforts to mediate since it was appointed weeks ago had failed, Miss Perkins said:

"The board is suspended. It made a recommendation which required assent of both sides. Two steel companies replied at once that they would not accede and the other two replied in 24 hours that they, too, would not accede.

"There is nothing more the board can think of to recommend. It was a constructive compromise proposal."

She said she was referring to the board's recommendation that a contract between workers and the company be drawn and an election held among workers to determine if the contract were acceptable.

this year has been issued in seven sections, all of which are now off the press. These include Dr. Walker's report, reports of the different district mining engineers and that of the chief inspector of mines.

Observers At Border Halted

LONDON (CP—Havas)—Portugal advised the British Government late today it had withdrawn the facilities hitherto accorded British observers supervising non-interference on its Spanish frontier.

Clipper Makes Canada Flight

Pan-American Ship Makes Test Preliminary to Atlantic Flights

BOTWOOD, Nfld. (CP)—Pan-American Clipper III took off from Bay of Exploits at 8.50 a.m., Newfoundland daylight time today, on what was expected to be a non-stop return flight to New York.

The 21-ton flying boat rose gracefully from the bay after remaining here all night because of fog and rain along the route back to New York.

The clipper arrived here Sunday night after an experimental flight from New York via Shediac, N.B. The ship was engaged in a survey flight in preparation for proposed trans-Atlantic experimental flights scheduled to begin July 5.

It carried a crew of 14 on the trip. The new ship is one that will be used on the first trans-Atlantic flight.

When the American Clipper takes off from New York on the west-east crossing July 5, an Imperial Airways flying boat will start on an east-west flight from Ireland to Montreal via Botwood.

SHEDIAC, N.B.—After stopping here on the way back to New York from Newfoundland, the Pan-American Clipper III arose from the Shediac Bay base at 11 a.m. E.S.T. (8 a.m. P.S.T.) to continue its return flight home.

MONEY PACT IS STILL IN FORCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials of the United States Treasury said today the monetary agreement between France, Great Britain and the United States remain in force despite temporary suspension of the Frenchman's right to exchange his paper money for gold.

They predicted the participating nations would act if necessary to prevent upsets in the relation between the dollar, the pound and the franc during the French crisis. Several reasons have been suggested for the "flight" of gold to the United States from Europe. Some have suggested that dollars are a better "buy" for the owner of a chunk of gold than are francs.

HIDEAWAY FROM EUROPE

Others contend the important factor is United States money and investments offer a safe hideaway from European unrest for the foreign investor. Still others cite heavy purchases of war materials here.

It was learned today that the United States, Britain and France now hold four-fifths of all the gold known to be in the vaults of governments and their official or semi-official central banks, such as the U.S. Federal Reserve system and the Bank of England.

Latest figures showed: United States, $12,289,174,000; Great Britain, $3,518,060,000; France, $2,846,000,000; total $18,653,234,000. The "visible supply" of gold in the world is $22,959,000,000.

LONDON DISCUSSES DEVALUATION

LONDON (AP)—The first reaction of traders here to the French declaration of a gold moratorium today was that a devaluation of the franc was forthcoming.

Devaluation often has been rumored in London's financial quarter, and the decision of the Chautemps government was viewed by many as finally a sort of confirmation.

French funds have been flowing to London in great volume recently and the city is prepared for their eventual repatriation as soon as financial adjustments are completed.

It was officially announced there would be no dealings in the franc on the exchange market today.

Market men said they considered France's suspension of gold trading as not likely to have any effect on the increase in the British equalization fund.

COMMONS VOTE

The House of Commons last night approved a proposal to increase the government's exchange equalization fund by £200,000,000 ($986,000,000) after Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, had explained the purpose was to aid general world trade.

Vanderlip Dies In New York

Veteran Financier Was Former President of National City Bank

NEW YORK—Frank A. Vanderlip, veteran financier, died in the New York Hospital today after an illness of several weeks. He was 72.

A native of Aurora, Ill., Mr. Vanderlip started life as a machinist's apprentice and rose to the presidency of the National City Bank of New York, one of the world's largest financial institutions. He retired in 1919. He entered the hospital June 16 for what his son, Frank A. Vanderlip Jr., described as "observation following an illness in California eight months ago."

Mr. Vanderlip obtained his first financial experience when he became private secretary to Lyman J. Gage, secretary of the treasury. In 1897 he was appointed assistant secretary of treasury. In that position he supervised the floating of the Spanish war loan.

The success of his work led to his election as vice-president of the National City Bank and subsequent assumption of the presidency.

Mr. Vanderlip was well known as an authority and writer on business and financial matters.

CALIFORNIA HUNTS MAN WHO KILLED THREE CHILDREN

Deputy Sheriffs Willard Killon and Paul Mahoney said from their inquiries about the man seen talking to children in the park from which the girls were kidnapped, the following composite description of the slayer was gained:

DESCRIPTION OF MAN

Age—Between 30 and 35. Height—Approximately 5 feet 10 inches.

Weight—155 to 165 pounds. Clothing—Old dark shirt. Blue overall pants. Dark hat.

Complexion—Deeply tanned. "Dirty."

Previously an order had been issued for the detention of Leroy Strong, 22, but Sheriff L. C. Huntamer of Olympia, Washington, entirely absolved him from any connection with the killings at Inglewood, California.

Several suspects were questioned and released last night.

HILLS SEARCHED

As word spread Sunday that the three little girls were missing, a hunting party of 500 officers and aroused citizens was organized to search the Baldwin Hills, covered with weeds, wild oats and patches of brush. Boy scouts continued to aid officers yesterday and four of them, Bob Brown, 14, Frank Fortune, 13, Don Morant, 14, and Winslow Smith, 15, made a grisly discovery yesterday afternoon.

"There's one," called Brown, pointing to the bottom of a 40-foot ravine. Their eyes widened in horror and they ran to call police. The ravine is five and a half miles northwest of Los Angeles between Inglewood and Culver City.

The girls' bodies, a rope knotted about the throat of each, were found a short distance apart in the sandy bottom of the ravine. Their shoes had been removed and placed in a neat row close by.

The bodies of Melba Everett and Marjorie Stephens, the older girls, were badly bruised and torn. That of Madeline Everett showed but few bruises and scratches.

LYNCHING THREATS

As word of the discovery spread and two manacled suspects were brought in for questioning, an angry crowd formed about the police station and muttered threats of lynching were heard. A second mob gathered last night. Mrs. Merle O. Everett, mother of two of the girls, collapsed and was placed in the care of a physician when she learned of their deaths.

"This is terrible," said Everett. "They have taken two of our five children—our little babies. No! No! I don't believe it."

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stephens, parents of the other girl, likewise were torn with grief.

The county commissioners today recommended the district attorney offer a "suitable reward" for the slayer's capture, and a newspaper offered a $1,000 reward for exclusive information leading to his arrest and conviction.

Edward Knott, an ice man, told police he had seen a man about 4 p.m. Saturday near the Baldwin Hills in a battered old car with three young girls.

An oil company employee told officers he saw smoke rising from the Baldwin Hills late Saturday afternoon. Investigating, he saw a man come down from the section near where the bodies were found, get into a 1929 or 1930 model roadster without fenders or running boards and drive away.

Assures France Of British Aid

Brig.-Gen. E. L. Spears, M.P., in Paris, Says Military Help Pledged

PARIS—Great Britain is resolved to give France military aid in the event of an aggression, Brig.-Gen. Edward Louis Spears, Conservative member of Parliament for Carlisle and head of a parliamentary mission to Paris, stated in an interview here Monday night.

Reiterating declarations of British statesmen that France and Britain have common frontiers, Gen. Spears said British foreign policy was pledged to guarantee French frontiers against unprovoked invasion.

"Nothing can change our officially defined policy," he said. "Whoever attacks your frontiers attacks ours."

Gen. Spears, who retired from the army in 1920 after serving as head of the British military mission to Paris from 1917 to 1920, warned, however, that if French fears inspired them to contract engagements with central European countries, Great Britain could not be expected to follow.

BRITISH FILM CHARGE DENIED

Producer Answers Criticism By Ontario Board of Censors

LONDON—Herbert Wilcox, British film producer, replying to the criticism of British films by the Ontario board of censors, asserted Canada was no longer "a British possession from the point of view of British films."

"We regard it as part of America," Wilcox declared. "I should resist any suggestion that British films are not clean."

The producer was commenting on the assertion by O. J. Silverthorne, chairman of the Ontario board of censors, that pictures made in the United Kingdom more frequently offended Ontario regulations than products of United States studios.

Wilcox said: "American films will permit things morally unsound such as gangsters and murders, things which really are perversions of our conventions, and yet they take exception to some harmless innuendo or little bit of fun which they take quite seriously."

"I have the greatest admiration for the work of the British film censors. I think they have a far keener sense of the fitness and rightness of a thing than the American organization has."

"I should say it is probably true that the best British films are made in America, but it is noteworthy they are made by British directors with British stars."

Rev. Jardine Soon To Lecture in New York

NEW YORK—Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, the Church of England clergyman who married the Duke and Duchess of Windsor at Monts, France, will give the first address of his scheduled American lecture tour at the Broadway Temple Methodist Episcopal Church July 11, according to Dr. Christian F. Reisner, leader of the temple.

Mr. Jardine resigned his "poor man's" vicarage in North England.

"He is coming to America to speak and raise money for charitable causes and not to fill his pocket," said the leader of the Broadway Temple.

Lapointe Is Heard in Paris

Congress of American Nations Told of Canada's Place in Empire

PARIS—Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Canadian Minister of Justice, outlined to the Congress of American Nations Monday the constitutional developments in recent years in the British Empire.

"This collaboration of Canada's," the minister said, "is on a national plane where Frenchmen and Englishmen, while keeping their respective qualities, associate themselves loyally to serve the common homeland."

"It is a collaboration in the British community, that community of sister nations, independent and equal, but bound voluntarily by a single link, that of their sovereign, symbol of their alliance."

"It is a collaboration with our neighbor, the United States, with whom we have the most friendly relations."

Fourteen nations besides Canada and the United States were represented at the conference, held under the auspices of the University of Paris and the France-America Committee.

Its aims are to arrange for personal meetings between leaders of the intellectual, economic and social life of American nations and France, and to present a series of reports on current intellectual and social conditions.

HYDRO RULING IS APPEALED

Ontario Asks Privy Council to Rule Out Payment to Beauharnois

TORONTO—Counsel for the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission and the province Monday obtained leave to appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London against last week's judgment of the Ontario Court of Appeal which declared the contract between Hydro and the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company a valid one.

The appeal court held the Beauharnois Company entitled to judgment against the commission for $609,000 for energy supplied under the contract, and ruled the Attorney-General should be a party to the litigation.

Kamloops Float In City Parade

The 125th anniversary committee of Kamloops will enter a float in the parade to be held in Victoria August 4 as part of Victoria's jubilee celebrations, according to word received at a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening.

Vancouver, Portland and San Francisco are considering entering the parade, the Junior Chamber was informed.

The annual Sooke Day celebrations have been postponed from August 4 until August 11, in order to leave the former date open for Victoria's parade.

A breakfast meeting of the sales committee will be held in the Pacific Club at 7 Monday morning.

Riding Barred In Saxe Point Park

Esquimalt will enforce the ban on horseback riding in Saxe Point Park. Councillor Thomas Hadfield last night drew to the attention of the municipal council a number of complaints from pedestrians who had been forced off the footpaths by riders.

It was pointed out that riding in the park had been forbidden by the council in a previous ruling. Chief of Police H. W. V. Pecknold was instructed to enforce the regulation.

MAYOR'S PLAN VOTED DOWN

Council Does Not Endorse His Recommendations For Jubilee Hospital Board

Appointment of five civic representatives to the board of directors of the Jubilee Hospital caused wide discussion at yesterday evening's meeting of the City Council.

The mayor had recommended Judge H. H. Shandley, Dr. J. D. Hunter, Alderman John Worthington, W. H. Johnson and Archie Aitken be named.

Several members of the council asked why James Forman and B. S. Heisterman, the former a member of the board for over 20 years, had been left off.

"There is nothing like a change," Mayor McGavin commented.

After some discussion the motion that these five be named was lost on a tie vote. An amendment, which called for nominations and a ballot was also lost on the tie vote.

Because of the absence of Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins, which left the council divided five against five on the matter, a special meeting of the full body has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 3 to reconsider the matter.

Several of the aldermen paid tribute to the excellent work done by Mr. Forman on the board and thought he should be asked to continue.

Alderman Okell said, in his opinion, the council would be showing lack of confidence in the mayor if his recommendation were turned down.

The representatives must be named to the board before July 1.

Loss $50,000 In Vancouver Fire

Western Cooperaage Plant Destroyed By Blaze; Offices Saved

VANCOUVER—Fire of undetermined origin Monday night swept through the barrel manufacturing plant of the Canadian Western Cooperaage and Barrel Company, destroying the building and a quantity of barrels and lumber with an estimated damage of between $50,000 and $75,000.

The blaze was discovered, a tiny flame flickering on the floor, by the watchman, N. Tony, who turned in two alarms.

Flames were shooting high into the air when firemen arrived at the building, situated below the Connaught Bridge, one of the city's main traffic arteries. The bridge itself was sprayed as firemen took precautions against sparks carried by the wind.

The building destroyed was used in the manufacture of the barrels. Other smaller buildings and an office were saved by the prompt action of the firefighters.

Hundreds of persons viewed the fire from a vantage point on the bridge.

The plant was razed by fire nine years ago.

Esquimalt for Bird in Hand

Council Prefers $550 in Cash to $2,500 in Dentistry As Payment

The Esquimalt Council last night decided a bird in the hand is worth four and a half in a bush.

Two offers were received for a house and two acres of property at the southwest corner of Lyall and Lamson Streets.

One was from Mrs. Edith F. Anderson, who offered $550 in cash.

The other bid was from E. L. Morgan, who undertook to pay $2,500 for the property in labor, in the form of dental services for the schools and the relief department, at the rate of $3 per hour and $1 per extraction.

The council, after some debate, accepted Mrs. Anderson's offer. It would have taken Mr. Morgan 700 hours of work and 400 extractions as well to buy the property.

Britain Objects To Italian Broadcasts

LONDON—Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons Monday "His Majesty's Government takes the strongest objection" to anti-British propaganda broadcast by Italy in Palestine and Arabia.

The ambassador at Rome had made representations on the subject recently to the Italian government, Mr. Eden said, while he (Eden) had spoken to the Italian ambassador here a fortnight ago.

"I am glad to be able to inform the House," the Foreign Secretary said, "that the tone of broadcasts from Bari lately has shown improvement."

Bari is an Italian port.

The information was given in reply to a question asked by Lieut.-Commander R. R. Fletcher, Labor.

Mr. Eden said "yes" to Morgan Jones, Labor, who asked if any undertaking had been given by the Italian government in connection with the broadcasts.

FRIENDS OF DOORN HOUSE DISBANDED

DRESDEN, Germany—The Governor of Saxony Monday night dissolved an organization which he said was known as the "Circle of Friends of Doorn House," on the grounds it endangered the safety of the state.

Doorn House is the Netherlands residence of former Kaiser Wilhelm.

In Berlin a representative of the House of Hohenzollern said he had never heard of such an organization in Saxony.

TO SHARE IN FAIR

LONDON—The British Government will participate in the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto in 1938 on a scale "adequate to the occasion," Capt. Euan Wallace, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, announced in the House of Commons Monday.

Answering a question from A. M. Lyons, Conservative, Capt. Wallace said the government had already accepted an invitation to participate, from one official.

FIND REMAINS OF FLYING DUCHESS

LONDON—Discovery at sea on Monday of the headless and decomposed body of a woman clad in a flying suit apparently has solved the three-month mystery of the disappearance of the 71-year-old Duchess of Bedford while piloting her private plane in a survey flight over the River Ouse area.

Capt. R. S. Riley of the British steamship Haytor found what was believed the body of the peeress who learned to fly at the age of 61 and astounded the flying world three years later by setting an England-Cape town record.

The Duchess took off March 22 from Woburn Abbey, Bedfordshire, en route to Cambridge. When nothing was heard from her, a wide search began.

A few days later the wreckage of a plane identified as hers was washed up on the Norfolk beach, and it seemed certain she had met disaster at sea.

Aliens in the United States have been decreasing so notably that one immigration official observes that in ten years an alien may be comparatively rare.

Ireland Goes a-Voting

ON THURSDAY OF THIS WEEK THE people of the Irish Free State will go to the polls to elect a new Dail and to say whether they approve or object to the new De Valera constitution. This latter issue is probably engaging the most attention because, among its other provisions, it is intended to create a new state "independent, sovereign and democratic," which, although it is legally a member of the British Commonwealth, in fact it is an illegitimate Republic.

The office of and Governor-General of the Irish Free State, of course, were abolished some time ago. He now will be replaced by a far more imposing functionary in the person of Uachtaran na hEireann—President of Eire—who apparently will be a super-Governor-General masquerading as President of the Republic, or a President of the Republic masquerading as a super-Governor-General. Actually, he will be the ceremonial head of the state, who will exercise the functions formerly exercised through the Governor-General by the King. This President will be elected by the people for a term of seven years; he will not be allowed to leave the country during his period of office without special permission, will be outside and above all party politics, and will have some important powers. The creation of this post will involve a change in the title of the chief of the Executive Council, who henceforward will be known as the Taoiseach, or, in plain English, the Prime Minister.

Is it possible that Mr. de Valera has produced this constitution without any kind of reference to the other party to the Anglo-Irish Treaty of 1921? Surely the new instrument is intended completely to abrogate that treaty; or, if it does not abrogate it, what on earth does it all mean? As matters stand at present, citizens of the Free State are citizens of the Commonwealth. They enjoy virtually all the privileges in Great Britain of an Englishman or a Scot; they are accepted as co-equal citizens throughout the Empire, and can move freely from Ireland to Great Britain without passports or restrictions of any kind. They are eligible everywhere for jobs—hundreds of them go across to England every week in search of work—and, but for this fact, says The Irish Times, "our universities would be forced to close their gates within a twelve-month. What will be the situation now, in default of some previous arrangement between Dublin and London?"

By virtue of an Act of last December, Saorstát Eireann "recognizes" the King for certain "external" purposes. Will Eire recognize him for the same purposes—will he, in fact, allow himself in the long run to be "recognized" in such a churlish way? To these questions there has been no answer. It merely suggests that Eire is neither fish, flesh, nor even a good red herring. It does not tell the Irish Free States whether they are in the Commonwealth or out of it. Can it be that Mr. de Valera does not really know?

"Non-intervention"

EVIDENCE PRESENTED IN THE LONDON New Statesman shows that while Britain and France were preventing the Basques from obtaining arms or planes from abroad their partners in "non-intervention" were pouring troops and bombers into the Basque region.

The deliberate strafing of civilians by machine guns from the air, the roads crowded with frightened refugees, insurgent warships bombing them from the sea and airplanes firing at them from overhead, with the victims' hands literally tied behind their backs by being deprived by neutral powers of the rights their opponents enjoyed to the full to obtain munitions—surely these are not scenes on which any government can look with pride.

McGill and Dr. Morgan

AFTER HAVING HELD OFFICE FOR only about two years, Dr. A. E. Morgan of McGill University, recently felt it his duty to resign the Principality of the institution. Following his resignation there have been gossip and suggestions that the differences between the Governors and the Principal were due to Mr. Morgan's stand on behalf of free speech.

It is not necessary to emphasize the fact that McGill is a great landmark in Canadian and indeed Empire culture, and it is well, therefore, to note that the Chancellor, Sir Edward Beatty, made a reassuring statement at Convocation. "It will no doubt be of some comfort to you," he said, "to know that at no time was there any question involved of academic freedom of speech. The question of the Principal's views on any subject, social, economic, or political, and his undoubted right to the fullest expression of them was not even remotely a factor in the situation which had developed. No repression by the Governors has been or ever will be imposed on the Principals of this university. I give you this assurance not because most of you require it, but in order to gratify the curiosity of some journals published outside of Montreal, which suddenly evidenced a great interest in our affairs and our future."

This frank, reassuring statement should settle once and for all gossip and rumors which naturally have been the cause of much distress both to Principal Morgan and the Governors of McGill.

CBC Going Wet?

A MONTREAL REPORT PUBLISHED IN Ottawa says a move is under way to throw the facilities of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation open to a campaign of liquor advertising. The fact that such a proposal is given consideration will arouse in radio listeners from coast to coast something more than a suspicion that they are being let down by those to whom they entrusted the direction of the national radio.

The public supported the national radio on the understanding that non-advertising programmes were to be its objective. The CBC has not proceeded directly to this objective as it has been putting on the air a few commercially-sponsored programmes. These are tolerated, and some of them well received by the public, as the advertising element is minimized. But for the government chain of stations to stray further from its original policy in order to be a party to putting liquor promotion matter into every home in the country that has a radio would be a step actively resented by a large part of the home population to which such advertising would be decidedly offensive.

The great Columbia and National Broadcasting companies in the United States, always highly sensitive to the public's reactions, have of their own accord, established rules against hard-liquor advertising over their chains. While in some instances these chains have permitted programmes sponsored by malt liquor producers, the advertising content of such programmes is whittled down to the mere mention of the product's trade name. If privately-operated radio chains in their zeal to court public favor have found it desirable and good business to shy away from putting liquor on the air, it would seem that the publicly-financed CBC is only courting trouble in even toying with the idea of liquor programmes.

After all the CBC directors must realize, they are still on probation. The radio listeners of Canada through their $2 license fee are giving them a lot of money—about $1,750,000 a year—with which to produce results. If they cannot produce results without making the ether across Canada dripping wet, it will be apparent to the radio public the time has come for another shake-up and radio department purge at Ottawa.

Victoria Returns to England

VICTORIA REGINA" IN WHICH HELEN Hayes has made such a name for herself on the Broadway stage during the last two years was written by Laurence Housman, an Englishman. Although it was published in book form in England several years ago, its performance on the stage in England was prohibited under a rule of the Lord Chamberlain which forbids the portrayal of living royalty on the stage. In this instance the play was refused the right to public performance in England until 100 years had passed after Victoria's accession. The century elapsed last week and the first showing was staged in London the next night before a distinguished audience. Critical judgments as to the play from the London reviewers are enthusiastic and a long run there is predicted. There are hopes that the English star, Pamela Stanley, may make her performance as memorable as that of Miss Hayes on the American stage.

From the time that she is called from her bed at Kensington Palace, a slim girl in her teens, to be told that William IV had died, and that she is queen, down through the years until the jubilee of 1897, celebrating 60 years of her reign, Miss Hayes proved more than adequate to all the tremendous demands made upon her. The naive girl of 18 who ascended the throne, the mature wife of Albert, the bereaved widow, and the aged woman who sat on the balcony at her jubilee and heard some one in the crowd shout, "Go it old girl," have been all portrayed with the most miraculous fidelity in the play.

None can doubt but that this poignant portrayal of the woman who restored the prestige of the British crown will find as hearty a reception in England as that work of another Housman, Laurence's late brother, whose "A Shropshire Lad" is a permanent contribution to English poetry.

Notes

Germany now has more than 6,000,000 radio sets, but not one owner has boasted that he has brought in Moscow.

A poison ivy pamphlet has been issued in the east so that summer picnickers will know how to start from scratch.

Hitler could not find $65,000,000 to pay the interest due foreign holders of German bonds, but he seems to have found it impossible to raise $180,000,000 to foment a Fascist revolution in Spain.

Time magazine published photos of Walter Duranty and Ernest Hemingway in its recent issue, but placed Duranty's name under Hemingway's picture and Hemingway's name under Duranty's photo. When Duranty saw the error he cabled Hemingway: "Let's both sue for libel!"

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

VIENNA.

BLUE DANUBE.

THE DANUBE, as all the world knows, isn't blue as in the old Strauss waltz, but brown; a flat, oily streak through the heart of inner Europe. But the Waltz King was right in part. There is a blue Danube—the old, untamed Danube, outside Vienna's canal system, a small, shimmering blue patch on the city's edge, which you can see quite clearly from the surrounding hills, all that remains of Strauss's lovely river of romance.

All Vienna used to be like the old Danube—shimmering and full of color, a city where every man was a lover and every woman beautiful. All that has gone, now, and there is little left of it but the outside trappings, the palaces and the boulevards. Vienna is a city without a country, the capital of the poor mangled thing left by the Treaty of Versailles, and it goes on sadly, looking always back over its shoulder, with a universal sigh.

LIQUEUR

AS A WORK of hands, as a feat of civilization, an achievement of architecture, Vienna is wholly satisfying—a little rich and gaudy, perhaps, to our sober Gothic taste, but exquisite to the palate, like a heavy liqueur, where Paris is a lively wine and London a full-bodied ale.

As a spectacle, as a way of living, Vienna is a keen disappointment. You have read so much of Viennese life, you have seen so many movies of it, heard so much of its music, that you half expect to find the people of Vienna perpetually dancing in the streets, roaring out songs in every corner beer garden, swaying in ecstasy through every park. Instead, you find the people of Vienna rather shabbily dressed, except for the wealthy, who are much smarter than the Parisians. Instead of dancing on the streets you find them sitting rather sadly in cafes sipping coffee slowly, to make it last, and reading the papers by the hour, because they are free.

RUN DOWN

VIENNA will always be glorious until its masonry falls, but it has a run-down look. A struggling little nation of 6,000,000, a third of them in one city—all that is left of the Holy Roman Empire—cannot afford to keep up the buildings and grounds as in the old days. The lawns have turned into a poorly-scythed hay field in front of the Imperial Palace. The shrubs are untended in the yellow gingerbread mansion of the murdered Rudolph. The government offices, where they shot Dolfuss, could stand a good cleaning.

These are minor flaws which can be remedied as soon as Austria can find a little money. The essential structure of Vienna remains unimpaired, the most prolific mass of palaces, monuments, statues and pictures in the world. Whenever an Austrian emperor had $100 to spare he seems to have ordered a new monument or a public square until the country must have been bled white to pay for them. Walking through Vienna is like walking through the Louvre or the Metropolitan Museum.

The people do not complain of the cost. The poorest workman is proud of the bronze statue of Strauss, with the horseshoe of marble nymphs dancing behind him. To the humblest Viennese Vienna is the most wonderful work of man, and not far removed from heaven. The palaces are as much a part of his daily life as the pictures on the walls of his home; the innumerable statues like ornaments on his own mantelpiece.

STATUES

IN GERMANY they rear up statues to soldiers. In Vienna, where they speak German, they build their monuments to musicians—Strauss and Schubert, whose houses are still to be seen here; to Mozart, to Beethoven and many more less known to us. That, in a word, tells the basic difference between the German and the Austrian.

You sense this vast gulf of character between the two people as soon as you cross the boundary. The fields of the Austrian Tyrol are not so well kept as those of the German Tyrol. The little towns are not so spic and span, the people in less of a hurry. They have more time to stop and try to talk to you by the roadside. The German is polite and obliging, but not very interested in you. Every peasant woman in Austria looks up from her hoe to wave to you, every little yellow-haired child in the village bows and murmurs shyly "Gruss Gott, God be with you."

Yesterday we got off our road east of Wolfgangsee and climbed by a narrow track high into the mountains. In Switzerland or Germany every peasant would be working in the fields. Here in a tiny village the Austrians were holding some kind of a fete and everywhere we met people walking to town, leaving their hay uncut. Three fat, red-faced women with huge bundles on their heads posed, giggling coyly, for a snapshot. The village band, very swagger in blue uniforms, all stood aside and saluted us ceremoniously.

LIPSTICK AGAIN

IN VIENNA it is the same—no marching men here as in Germany, scarcely a soldier, no Fascist salutes, and, instead of the German's quick purposeful walk, a leisurely stroll. And the women dress vividly and paint their faces delightfully, having no Realmeader to frown on such things.

Vienna's gay youth is past and it looks over its shoulder wistfully, hoping that somehow the good old days may come back again. Meanwhile it still tries to keep up appearances as best it can, like a fine old mansion with priceless furniture and an empty larder. Except for the uncut grass and the untended shrubs, you might never suspect that Vienna was broke. Vienna is like that. If it had only $100 in the world it would buy a champagne dinner, with an orchid for its lady. If its government ever has a surplus it will erect another monument to some soprano. They have a spirit here, even yet, that we can never muster—a lovely illusion that the Danube is all blue.

Nazi Reverse Trade With Canada

COLLAPSE of German-Canadian trade and reversal in its position since the advent of the Nazis, are shown in government statistics of imports and exports. These figures are of significance at present owing to the ratification of the recently concluded German-Canadian trade pact, which, it is hoped, will to a certain extent alleviate these conditions.

Canadian exports to Germany dropped from $46,708,804 during 1929 to $4,559,594 in 1936. The comparison is admittedly exaggerated owing to the different economic levels of the two years, but the slashing of a market to a tenth of its former value cannot be explained in the light of any natural circumstances.

During that same period Canadian imports from Germany were only cut in half. In 1929 Canada bought $20,797,683 worth of goods from the republic, while in 1936 she ran up a bill of $9,907,685 with the Fascist state.

Prior to 1935 the Dominion always had a favorable trade balance with Germany. In 1928 and 1929 this amounted to over $25,000,000 each year. During the depression years of 1931-33, imports more or less balanced exports. But in 1935 when the Nazi government's control of foreign trade became effective, Canada had an adverse trade balance of over $5,500,000. The relative positions of the two countries was little changed during the last year.

This means that for every dollar that Canada spent in Germany during the past two years, Germany spent 45 cents in Canada.

The Dominion's recent losses might be considered just retribution for her gains of the past. Some kind of law of equalization is working out for foreign trade. There might be some truth in this apology if the exchange of goods between the two countries had been left to the free course of the open market.

But it was not. AS HAS ALREADY been said, German trade is effectively controlled by the government. And during the last two years the flow of goods from Canada to the Reich has been deliberately curtailed. A glance at the Canadian-German trade figures during the last five years plainly shows this to be true.

	Imports	Exports
1932	$11,657,869	$10,405,256
1933	9,088,905	8,057,105
1934	9,992,704	10,588,450
1935	10,014,434	4,474,158
1936	9,907,685	4,559,594

Trade was almost stabilized during the depression years with a slight improvement evident in 1934. The following year Canadian exports dropped to the unprecedented low of $4,474,158, and showed a negligible improvement in 1936. This during a time when Canada's imports and exports with other countries were showing tremendous increases.

The artificially unbalanced condition of German-Canadian trade is a desperate attempt by the Nazi government to stay the dwindling supply of foreign exchange. This, as a matter of fact, has been brought about by the government's own policy of self-sufficiency which has disastrously reduced her foreign trade. The world-wide boycott against her has also aggravated her economic condition to an extent not fully realized.

But Germany must have money with which to buy the raw materials necessary for the tremendous armament programme which she has undertaken! She has been getting some of this out of Canada.

AN ANALYSIS of Canadian export trends to Germany show a remarkable change in the value of certain commodities shipped to the Reich. To a certain extent these figures might be said to reflect the status of the German people.

In 1929 Germany bought $5,229,000 worth of barley from Canada. In 1936 there were either no purchases or purchases were so small that they were not listed in the itemized export totals. The value of Germany as a wheat market for the Dominion has been reduced by 97.5 per cent. In 1929 Germany bought $19,799,000 worth of wheat—in 1936 $524,000. Wheat flour purchases have been reduced even more sharply. In 1929 Germany bought $6,962,000 worth of Canadian flour—in 1936 $18,000 was all

MORE ON BARKING DOGS

To the Editor:—I would like to have something to say in this dog matter, as I am very fond of dogs. I think with some exceptions dogs should not be allowed to bark at night, when other people are sleeping. People who take care of their pets see that they are provided with a decent place to sleep and have a little consideration for others. Of course, when a puppy is taken away from its mother it yaps considerably, so that is an exception.

OUR GREAT DELUSION

To the Editor:—Canada cannot have more immigrants, because our money supply is not sufficient to cover more population than we now have. This is the common belief of both governments and people, and this delusion will continue, as long as we insist capital can only come to us, as debts and loans, in money form.

In this delusion we are drifting fast towards national bankruptcy, perpetual debt and financial slavery; immigration would at least give some control over the kind of people future Canadians will be, which would be a semblance of independence in a sea of rising debt and unrest.

Money is making human existence far too complicated, we must get back to a simpler form of life, eliminating fear and haste. Our wants should be few and natural, but sufficient.

JAPAN'S INTEREST IN US

From The Financial News
Japan has no ambitions to take over British Columbia and make of it another Manchukuo, although it is said that Japanese ex-navy men, in the B.C. fishing industry, have compiled the best charts extant of the British Columbia coastline.

But Japan is interested in British Columbia's natural resources and wishes to be more than a mere importer of them.

Japanese capital is said to be bidding for ownership of various industries in British Columbia. Japanese engineers are already spending Japanese capital on an iron prospect on Queen Charlotte Islands. Negotiations are well in hand for a pulp mill to be Japanese controlled.

Japan will build a plant to refine the nickel concentrates to be mined and milled at the B.C. Nickel property at Choate, B.C.

that the Nazis would pay for Canadian flour.

In 1929 Germany bought $2,214,000 worth of copper from Canada. In 1936 she increased her purchases of this metal by three-quarters of a million dollars to $2,990,000.

The copper figures are eloquent. In 1932, the year before the Nazis came to power, Canadian copper exports to Germany totaled only $149,000. By 1934 they mounted to $1,706,000, an increase of almost $1,500,000 in twelve months. — A. L. P. Stursberg.

Weather Aids Artillery Camp

Fifth Brigade, Signals and Engineers in Training at Macaulay

Under ideal weather conditions, members of the Fifth (B.C.) Coast Brigade, Canadian Artillery, together with men from the Fortress Signals and the Fortress Engineers, went into camp at Fort Macaulay on Sunday. The camp will continue until July 11.

The annual training period opened with a church parade on Sunday morning, attended by a number of civilians as well as the officers and men of the units. The service was conducted by Rev. Alan Gardiner, chaplain of the Fifth Brigade. In the afternoon there were games, and members of the units received visits from their friends.

The artillery unit is under the command of Colonel C. Aubrey Kent. Major B. Gwynne is in charge of the signallers, and the engineers are under Captain J. H. McIntosh.

The real work of the training course started Monday night, with gun practice, signalling and training of specialists in gun laying and the use of coast defence instruments.

The parades are held from 7 to 9 o'clock each night for the benefit of those members of the units who are unable to remain in the camp throughout the day.

The Fifth Brigade has a complement of 250 officers and men.

She attained the high average of 79 per cent in the difficult course, and in addition to being a keen and conscientious student is fond of sports, and was a former member of the softball team. Refreshments were served after the service from a table centred with the bride's cake, which was surrounded with vases of sweet peas and ferns. Mrs. Higgins was dressed in black and white for the occasion, and wore a corsage bouquet of white carnations.

English Bill For Easier Divorces

LONDON—The bill intended to widen grounds upon which divorce may be obtained, and at the same time remove abuses in divorce actions, received second reading in the House of Lords today without division and went to committee. It previously had been passed by the House of Commons.

Sponsored by A. P. Herbert, author of "Holly Deadlock," and famed for his contributions to "Punch," the bill provides for divorce on grounds of adultery, desertion, cruelty or incurable insanity. In addition, the bill sets up new grounds for the nullity of marriage and provides for presumption of death in cases of missing parties to a marriage. At present only adultery is a legal ground for divorce.

At the meeting of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, held yesterday evening, Miss Lawson told of her trip to Harrison Hot Springs, organized by the Vancouver Business and Professional Women's Club, when representatives from Seattle, New Westminster and Vancouver attended.

Mrs. Paul Eaton, Vancouver, was named the Victoria club's representative at the Niagara Falls convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs next month. Mrs. Blyth, a member of the Calgary club, was welcomed at the meeting.

Plans were made for a picnic, to be held on July 19, at the summer home of Mrs. Nixon, Cordova Bay.

After the business meeting, Dr. D. M. Duncan, chairman of the Community Chest Board, outlined the scheme and gave the members an insight into the proposed plans. Miss Macrae was named the club's representative on the board.

Coronation Contingent Unable to Locate Films to Bring From London

LONDON—If some of the members of Canada's official Coronation contingent appear reluctant to return to their native soil, they have a genuine excuse. Anxious to take back with them an official record of Canada's participation in the spectacle, a number of representatives have been combing the country for films of the Dominion contingent, but have discovered there aren't any.

Coronation pictures shown in London included several "shots" of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, but while the films portrayed at some length the South Africans, Australians, New Zealanders, Indians and colonial representatives, the rest of the Canadian contingent was missing. A film director explained the colonials were first in the procession, the Rhodesians wore shorts, the Australians had feathers in their hats and the Indians were spectacular.

INQUIRIES FROM TOWNS

The embarrassment of those in search of films of the Canadians is related in a letter to The London Daily Telegraph by Major Frank P. Lloyd of the Royal Canadian Artillery.

"Each officer of the contingent was there representing a number of different military units scattered about in towns, in some cases a considerable distance apart. It is only fair to those troops, in fact we regard it as a very necessary duty, that we, their representatives take back to them something of what we have seen during these memorable days," he writes.

"Now we are faced with the situation of not being able to buy one foot of film showing the Canadians because we are told there just is not any."

He has been advised the "shots" are probably stored away in the vaults of some of the film companies and if he would put up $25 they would agree to check their stock to see if they had any films of the Canadians.

Major Lloyd, however, has made a direct appeal to citizens of London who may be in possession of films showing the Canadians on the march to make them available to him for prints.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

CHILD'S FIRST TEETH NEED CONSCIENTIOUS CARE

A child's first teeth should be more perfect than at any time in his life. Unfortunately, there are mishaps which destroy not only the beauty, but the usefulness of the first teeth and the health and beauty of the second.

Children's first teeth do decay. It may be that from ignorance or measures of economy, or just carelessness, the child's body is denied the food supplies which build healthy teeth. The tooth materials which made up the first teeth may have been faulty because the mother's diet before the baby was born was not well chosen.

Decay, even in the first teeth, must be properly treated. Decayed teeth destroy the efficiency of the mouth. Children cannot eat comfortably when their teeth are sensitive to hot or cold, or sweet or sour. They cannot chew their food well. If the decay progresses to the point where extraction is necessary, there are ugly gaps left in the mouth.

Nearly teeth lean over in nature's attempt to fill the gap. Or teeth from above push down, and those from below push up to fill any opposing gap. Then when months later the permanent teeth appear, the space which has been reserved for it is partially filled and the tooth grows into the diminished space crookedly.

Green spots and dark lines often mar the child's first teeth. Both are impervious to ordinary tooth cleaning, and must be cleaned by a dentist. In the case of the dark lines the tooth structure may be faulty, and further decay is prevented by treating the tooth properly.

Parents are seldom so conscientious about the care and preservation of the first teeth, in the mistaken idea that they are lost anyway. But it is upon a foundation of sound first teeth that the second permanent teeth are built, and there are few health and beauty assets so valuable to an individual as white and perfect teeth.

Our diet lists for children of various ages may be had by sending a self-addressed, 3-cent stamped envelope with your letter, stating the child's age, to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department.

WEDDINGS

WELSH-BALL

Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening when Rev. Samuel Lundie united in marriage Miss Ellen Ball, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson, and Ernest William Welsh, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Welsh, "Broomlea," Sooke.

Given in marriage by her uncle, the bride wore a dress of pale blue georgette pebble crepe cut on long lines with full pleated sleeves and a white crepe hat with a large brim. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and fern.

She was attended by Miss Helen Welsh, sister of the bridegroom, who wore an ankle length dress of deep blue net and hat to match of mohair, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. Harold Welsh. Leonard Muir and Alex Richardson acted as ushers.

The church had been beautifully decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride, a large arch centred with a huge white bell being placed in front of the altar.

During the signing of the register, Mr. Robert Fitton sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Florence A. Acreman, who also played Lohengrin's "Wedding March" as the bride entered the church.

Following the service a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson for relatives and immediate friends. Mrs. Thompson welcomed the guests, wearing a dress of printed silk crepe and a brown hat. She was assisted by Mrs. William Welsh, mother of the groom, in a navy blue silk ensemble and hat to match.

The bride and bridegroom left for a honeymoon, motoring up-Island, and on their return will make their home in Sooke.

ROONEY-BARAGON

Artistic floral arrangements were arranged in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Alberni, last evening for the wedding of Mabel Viola, eldest daughter of Mrs. R. Baragon, to Mr. Thomas Rooney, only son of Mrs. Rooney, and the late Thomas Rooney of Port Alberni. Rev. Father W. G. Smith performed the ceremony, and Mrs. Labontais presided at the organ. Mr. Calvin Cook was the best man. Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Arthur Baragon, the bride wore a gracefully modelled gown of white satin, fashioned with Medici collar of Duchess lace, long flowing train and princess and high bodice. A full length tulle veil hung from a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses and carnations.

Miss Christine McLeod was bridesmaid attired in hyacinth blue silk net, with accents of taffeta ribbons. Her Gainsboro model hat was in harmonizing tone with gown, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations. The same floral decorations featured the reception held in St. Joseph's parish hall following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Rooney are honeymooning in Vancouver and Seattle. They will make their home in Port Alberni.

War Nurses Gather At Reunion

Musical Programme Recalls Days On Active Service

Last week the members of the Overseas Nursing Sisters' Club, social organization of graduate nurses, who were on active service with any army of the Allied Forces overseas during the Great War, held their semi-annual reunion at the home of Mrs. Guy N. Peel, 1072 Newport Avenue, Oak Bay.

Miss Jean Kay, Miss Lazenby-Rose, Mrs. Leo O'Leary and Mrs. Robt. Hogarth presided at the tea table and during the afternoon several musical numbers, reminiscent of 1914-1918, were rendered by Mrs. Warren Morse (Winifred Howard) of Port Angeles, an out-of-town member, on her violin, accompanied by Mrs. Leo O'Leary (Myrtle Starrett) at the piano. Over 30 members were present, including sisters who had served in England, France, Belgium, Italy, India, Africa, the Far East and on the high seas in hospital ships.

Nursing Sister Louise MacDonald, A.R.R.C., from Station Hospital, Work Point Barracks, who leaves shortly to take up her duties at the Royal Military College, Kingston, was guest of honor, and during the afternoon was presented with a painting of a typical Victoria scene and a vote of appreciation on the work she has done in this district.

ELDERLY SISTERS SLAIN BY AXE MAN

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. — Two elderly sisters lay dead here today while a man stated to have been released recently from an insane asylum was held by police and the District Attorney's office said a charge of murder would be laid.

One of the women, Mrs. Mary B. Enders, 81, was found dead Monday, and the other, Mrs. Jennie V. Enders, 83, died a short time later in an Amsterdam hospital.

Both were found lying on floors at the home where they lived alone. An axe lay nearby. The women had married brothers, both of whom are dead.

Starts Her "Perms" Early

Dear me! A girl certainly has to begin early these days if she wants to look her best and get along, what with all these platinum blondes and stuff, meditates six-month-old Barbara Ann Bullard, Fort Worth, as she has a bit of lunch during her first permanent, left. And—pretty nice, Barbara decides as she surveys, at right, the resulting curls in her six-inch long hair.

ANDREW and IMOGENE

By ROE FULKERSON

"Do you know what I am going to do when the legislature convenes?" asked Andrew thoughtfully.

"I know how Delilah managed to give Sampson a boyish bob," replied Imogene.

"Sampson? Delilah? What in the world are you talking about?"

"Not myself, at any rate."

"Would you mind explaining what are you trying to get at?"

"I shouldn't, but I will."

"What?"

"Men's weakness and women's strength."

"Enlarge," commanded Andrew.

"I just kept you from talking about yourself," went on Imogene. "I did that because there is nothing you have that I want at this particular minute."

"And if there had been?" he encouraged.

"If there had been, I would have let you go right ahead talking about yourself, and you would have done what Sampson did—talked yourself to sleep—so I could have given you a trimming, or else you would have become so happy telling me what a great guy you are, that you would have given me anything I asked for just prove your own firm conviction."

"For every physical weakness of woman, nature gave her a mental advantage over man. She was given a defence for every attack; a shield for every assault. Take the one in question. A man's chief weakness is his love for talking about himself. Any time a woman wants to make a man happy, all she has to do is to give him a chance to brag. He needs little encouragement. Once he is started talking about himself, he is the most incontinent talker in the world. He is so delighted with this, his favorite subject, that he simply doesn't know when to stop.

"Like the man who confesses to the murder, he tells all. He tells in detail, and he tells fully. He is so happy in telling that it is almost impossible to stop him once he is started."

"One of these long dissertations on himself lays a man wide open to two of a woman's opportunities. First of all, when he is going good he becomes so happy in his contemplation of himself and his own qualities of greatness, that she can ask him for anything within his gift, and he will come through to prove his point."

"Second, while a woman is listening to him talk about himself, she can learn more about him than he realizes, and she can store away these bits of information for future reference. She can form her real opinion of him by what she hears."

"Before a girl is married, all she needs to do is start each new boy friend talking about himself. Before he realizes, and she can store away these bits of information for future reference. She can form her real opinion of him by what she hears."

"Enemy?"

"Enemy," said Imogene. "The fates gave you everything on earth. You men are the lords of creation from the day your fathers announce gladly: 'It's a boy!' You have all the wealth, the power, the control of the world in your hands, and it is from you that woman must wrest everything she wants."

"But this desire to talk about yourself is like the heel of Achilles which was not dipped in the River Styx, and left him a vulnerable spot through which he lost his white ally."

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. How should corn on the cob be eaten?

2. Should fried chicken be eaten with the fingers?

3. Should a host in offering to serve a guest at the table say, "May I give you some more meat?"

4. Should a hostess apologize to a guest if the service is poor?

5. How does one refuse food when proffered by a servant?

What would you do if—

(a) You are eating in a restaurant and for the first time in your life are served an artichoke? You have no idea how to eat it.

(b) Guess at how it is done.

(c) Say you have never eaten an artichoke and asked how to go about it.

ANSWERS

1. Hold cob by one hand, putting butter on only a small portion at one time. Ears should be broken before being served at table.

2. In a small family group, yes; otherwise, no.

3. No, avoid term "second helping" also.

4. No.

5. Say, "No thank you."

Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(a), if it can be done easily. (c), if you realize that (a) will not work.

FASCIST BACKING?

To the Editor:—It would be interesting to know why the Young Citizens' League in general and Mr. Thomas in particular make such a point of championing Col. Edgett when that worthy is accused of being a Fascist. Their ardor in this regard is almost of such a quality as to make one believe that their interest in the matter is more than casual. Can it be true, I wonder, that the allegations that have long been leveled against the Young Citizens implying that they have powerful backing in Vancouver is true?

In spite of hysterical denials, this would seem to be the case. There are many pieces of direct evidence that this is so; the Young Citizens are running true to type. They are one of those supposedly spontaneous organizations which spring enthusiastically to each other's defence at various times, and are eventually proven to be all inspired in the same quarters. The very fact that they are most careful about denying that they are Fascists only serves to brand them more indelibly as the same. Happily, they do not succeed in deluding many, young or old!

THE OPEN ROAD

To the Editor:—Perhaps the most beautiful trait in the life of the Nazarene Carpenter while here on earth was his love for the open road—by the side of the lake, at the seashore, in the field or forest—to bring the divine message of love.

Not for him was the musty temples of respectability, but under the blue sky and in wind and storm. Would that we could follow his example more and break away from our artificial modern habitations of brick and plaster, of often sunless and impure airtight rooms.

The recent sit-down strike is nothing new. We have all been doing it for years. Millions spend the best part of their existence in wearing out a hard wooden bench—caught in the industrial web of this civilized age—when every tissue of the human body yearns for the great out-doors. School children imprisoned by an out-of-date educational system, stunting their glorious youth indoors, when half the time they should be outside gaining strength and training for their future life, learning woodcraft, farming, how to sail or run a boat, the science of the fisheries and all the great variety of out-door mechanics.

Granted there must be a portion of our existence in work and entertainment behind four walls, but let us follow the new idea that other countries have adopted for a healthy life of forest schools—facilities for air and sun bathing and swimming all the year round outdoors—physical culture and health training provided for everyone.

Perhaps we will not get so far advanced as the Japanese with their public free baths, or Italy's children-of-the-sun system, or the Swedish body culture, but we can at least prove it is not true that we are not what that splendid specimen of humanity, the American Indian, called the first white visitors to this continent—pale-faces.

CHRIST AND RICHES

To the Editor:—In a letter on behalf of the revolutionary "Fellowship for a Christian Social Order," R. B. Y. Scott is entitled to propound Communist and revolutionary views, but he is not entitled to misrepresent views he does not like.

The inference contained in his letter is that Christianity contains revolutionary teaching, that it demands... "the replacement of capitalism (private property) by an economic structure suited to the Christian idea of community."

Jesus Christ is sometimes represented by political ignorami as being a revolutionist—a Communist, but the fact remains that no such claim can be substantiated by any fair study of the gospels. Christ never condemned the private ownership of goods as unjust or unlawful.

Even in His nearest approach to doing so (in his reply to the rich young man who asked what he should do to have life everlasting), Christ quite clearly drew the distinction between what is necessary and what is of counsel. The fact that Christ counseled the young man to sell his goods (transfer title of ownership) proves that He did not regard private property as unlawful in itself.

Jesus Christ did, truly, emphasize the danger of riches and denounce the rich in severe terms. What Christ did command was that men should make right use of their goods (which is just what many contemporary capitalists are definitely not doing).

Also, Christ's insistent emphasis on the incalculable value of the human individual and the sacredness of his labor, although admittedly ignored oftentimes in the capitalist nations of the west, is the absolute opposite of the totalitarian (Communist-Fascist) belief that the individual is nothing, the state everything.

THE LAW OF WAGES

To the Editor:—I was much pleased with the endorsement given to my definition of the law of wages by the Rev. Owen L. Jull.

Apart from any opinion of Social Credit, I have long admired the way in which Mr. Jull sticks to his guns. I like a "bonnie fechter," and he is quite that.

I have taken his advice and am studying "the question further," and I hope he will reciprocate with me and take a look at the economics of Henry George so that he may not again make such a mis-step as to class me as a Socialist. Listen to what he says: "Mr. Hamilton claims this will only be achieved by Socialism, by the state being the sole employer." If Mr. Jull had read my letters to the press as carefully as I have read his, he could not have written that sentence. I have never written, said or believed that the state should be the sole employer. We have too little freedom now; I have always advocated more freedom.

Socialism would give us less freedom—would deprive us of the scanty liberties we now enjoy. Henry George was all for freedom. He drew attention to the invariable rule that every extension of liberty brought advancement in material progress, learning and art, and that every curtailment of liberty sent civilization backwards.

In pursuance of Mr. Jull's advice I have been looking at the admirable article by Mrs. Ethel Seymour on Social Credit in last Saturday's magazine section of The Times. It is truly refreshing to find that so many people are out to abolish poverty. It is not so long ago that one would have got the horse laugh for any such proposition. But mental attitudes change with changing circumstances, and that is all to the good.

However, apart from the question of whether Social Credit is in itself sound, let us admit for the sake of argument that it would be a success when applied. Would that abolished poverty. Alas! No. It would bring a flurry of good times. Good times bring land booms. Ground or economic rent would soon increase sufficiently to absorb all the benefit. There can be no permanent prosperity or absence of poverty while this great public fund finds its way into private pockets. So long as we neglect fundamentals our theorizing will be in vain.

ORIENTAL-RAISED POTATOES

To the Editor:—George Howland of Ladysmith in The Victoria Times proposes a law to completely outlaw all Oriental potato growers from the market. This is to be done by means of a lovely modern invention known as a marketing board. This board is to pay a bonus of say $10 per ton on all potatoes sold through the board by white growers, at a loss ($5 a ton or less), no Oriental producer to be allowed to sell through the board, or even to help a white man who sells that way. The result, of course, would be that Chinamen are frozen entirely out of the market—left to starve or find a new job.

Talking with a friend of European extraction, but a native son of British Columbia, and highly placed in a position of honor and trust, I said: "Now will you mentally transpose yourself into the shoes of one of my young friends of Oriental ancestry, but Canadian-born and educated, who are doing such scholarly work at Victoria College. Well, think of your rights as a native-born Canadian citizen—have you the voter's franchise as such? I'm afraid not. Think then of your family, and a thousand others, fellow countrymen educated at our public schools on equal footing with white children and doing very well a large share of the real work in the major industries of this province, do they get proper recognition—other than nom-nally by the churches for such as profess Christianity—as citizens, or even as fellow men? Or are they just tolerated as a necessary nuisance—like our lawyers! Now, my fellow native son, give me your reason for refusing the electoral franchise to our yellow friends: is it not simply because they are not blessed with quite so pale a skin as ours?" "Yes," said he, "I don't think any but white people should have a vote in a white country." "Why so," said I, "Well," he answered, "your views may sound plausible, even logical, but hasn't Japan got spies all over Canada?"

But why not tell the true reason, viz, that the Oriental works efficiently and cheaply—keeps prices moderate—and wins out over all incompetent or lazy competitors, and that therefore young Lee Sing must go back to his grandfather's homeland. Following that exodus, as night follows day, up go all food prices in all B.C. homes. Be sure you get that, you Victoria house-keepers.

Finally, and of utmost importance, do you want China and Japan, the two great Asiatic-Pacific powers for friends or for enemies? Of course you say, "No one wants war!" Then, as you love peace, as you value your homes, treat their nationals within your borders with at least decency. For what purpose are His Majesty's courts of justice maintained? To bolster up expiring "marketing boards"—and such-like forms of economic slavery? Or to make secure and vigilantly guard our individual freedom in competition, as well as all other liberties—personal, social, political and religious.

THE LOGIC OF MACHINES

To the Editor:—To visualize goods "as a whole" is indispensable to clear thinking. Let us imagine an isolated, moneyless but "capitalist" community. All the "consumption goods" are comprised under the term "bananas," and all the "production goods" under the term "machines." The output of bananas is 1,000 per day, of which the four capitalists consume 200, and the forty workers consume 800. One day an "inventor" announces that with the aid of machines the per capita output could be doubled. How could any machines come into existence? There is only one way—there can never be any other—by "abstinence." It is clear that the machine-makers must be maintained by the rest while they are producing the machines. Obviously, consumption must be reduced accordingly—you can't fool physical laws or "old man arithmetic." If ten of the workers are set to machine making and it takes a year to make the machines (working hours remain unchanged), then the output of bananas will be reduced 25 per cent. Ostensibly, of course, it is the capitalists who "abstain." But as D. H. Robertson shows in his little book, "Money," the higher price-level for the reduced output imposes "forced saving" upon the entire community, so that, as a matter of fact, everyone will have to "do his bit" of the abstinence, willy nilly.

During the ensuing year, then, consumption will be at the rate of: Capitalists, 150; machine-makers, 150; banana-growers, 450. At the end of the year the harvest of all the abstinence can be reaped. Suppose that five of the machine makers are still needed for maintenance and replacement of the machines, then the other five can return to banana-growing. Output was originally 1,000; it fell to 750; it will now be 1,750. Who is going to "consume" (not "save," or "invest," or "use productively") the additional bananas? Someone has got to do so if the abstinence is not to be futile and unprofitable. If ratios remain unchanged, distribution will now be: Capitalists, 350; machine-maintainers, 175; banana-growers, 1,225. But, observe the position. Not only must the capitalists act with this phenomenal liberality (increasing real wages by 133 per cent from the low point). They must also raise their own "consumption" 75 per cent above the high point. (Or, conversely, if they raise wages less, they must expand their own consumption more). In a primitive world such a thing may be possible; but in the modern world it is almost unthinkable. It is more than a century since the economist, Malthus, wrote: "Few things are more difficult than to inspire new tastes and wants in mankind." Beyond a certain point the diminishing utility of income, for consumption purposes, is notorious.

Does not this analysis go far to explain our economically paralysed world? The capitalists will not (perhaps cannot) "consume" the abundance which, with our present technical knowledge, we could so easily "produce." Somehow or other, surely, the workers must be enabled to do so.

U.S. Golfers Lead British In Cup Series

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

WHAT A different New Westminster team took the field at Macdonald Park on Saturday afternoon and went down to defeat at hands of Victoria City in the Dominion Cup series, to the one which lifted the Canadian championship at Vancouver the previous season. The Royals had a young, inexperienced eleven on Saturday and outside of Turner and Fidler, veteran members of New Westminster clubs, their players showed little. George Leggett, crack Victoria back division player, who joined the Royals for the match, turned in a grand exhibition, but he certainly received little support.

It was interesting to note that neither Trevor Harvey, crack centre-half, nor George Anderson, smart full-back, were in uniform Saturday, although they were both in Victoria. Rumor has it that these men will transfer to North Shore United for the Dominion Cup play. The Shores appear to have the smartest team entered in the British Columbia play-downs and are being picked as the club to represent this province in the Canadian play-offs. It is surmised that both Harvey and Anderson figured the Royals stood little chance of winning, so have decided to throw in their lot with North Shore.

In former years the Royals have always transferred star players from other teams for the Dominion Cup play, but this season they were left out in the cold through a new ruling. This season the league bosses did not set a closing date for transfers, and open a new transfer date for the Dominion Cup. As a result the Royals could not draft first class players because they would have been lost to their own teams for the other competitions. That is the reason why the New Westminster club fielded a makeshift eleven for Saturday's engagement with the City.

After their rather poor showing in the Pacific Northwest amateur championship at Tacoma last week we wonder if Kenny Black and Stan Leonard, Vancouver's two ace amateur golfers, are still as determined to pass up the trip to Ottawa for the Willingdon Cup interprovincial team match and the Canadian amateur, in favor of the sectional qualifying round of the United States amateur championship at Tacoma next month. It would be kind of embarrassing if either one of the lads failed to qualify and put themselves out of a chance to take part in the United States nationals at Portland in August.

In the meantime Victoria's two members of the Ottawa team, Kenny Lawson, B.C. amateur champion, and Jimmy Todd, city monarch, are busy sharpening up their clubs in preparation for the eastern invasion. Lawson is practicing every night at the Uplands, while Todd is getting in some useful rounds at Oak Bay. On Sunday Todd played around Colwood and clicked off a pair of 75's.

Can it be that Dizzy Dean, loquacious pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, has sworn off as an after-dinner speaker because of the jam he talked himself into with President Ford Frick of the National Baseball League, in Belleville, Ill., recently? On the night of June 21, Dizzy was billed to appear before the Kiwanis Club in Alton, Ill. A committee called at Dean's hotel to transport him and was told he would be down in ten minutes. He didn't appear. Another call 15 minutes later, brought the same answer. Later, Mrs. Dean answered and said Dizzy had "just stepped out." He couldn't be found. A fourth call found Paul Dean answering the phone and he said Dizzy was still out. As a crowd of 1,000 waited in nearby Alton, the committee returned with the sad news and a chorus of "never agains."

Dudley-Nelson Lead Americans To Fine Victory

Defeat Cotton and Padgham 4 and 2 as Invaders Win Foursomes 2½ to 1½

Singles Tomorrow

SOUTHPORT, Eng. (CP)—Led by the teams of Ed Dudley and Byron Nelson and Ralph Guldahl and Tony Manero, the United States today gained a 2½ to 1½ lead over Great Britain's team of professional golfers in the Scotch foursomes division of the biennial Ryder Cup play.

The Dudley-Nelson and Guldahl-Manero combines won their matches, while Gene Sarazen and Denny Shute finished theirs all even for half a point and Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta lost to Percy Allis and Richard Burton, 2 and 1.

Their showing in the foursomes, considered a British specialty, strengthened the Americans' hopes of retaining the International Trophy tomorrow, when eight singles matches will be played, and at the same time scoring their first victory on a British course.

GREAT PERFORMANCE

The day's greatest surprise was the showing made by the veteran Dudley and Nelson. In advance of the matches they had been regarded as sacrificial lambs being offered up to be slaughtered by Britain's strongest duo, Henry Cotton and Alf Padgham, the latter holder of the British open championship.

But Dudley and Nelson jumped into the lead at the start of the afternoon by winning four of the first five holes and never again were headed, to win 4 and 2.

Sarazen and Shute were all even with their opponents, young David Rees and veteran Charles A. Whitecombe, captain of the home side, after 18 holes. From there to the finish, neither team ever was more than one hole up. Guldahl, United States open champion this year, and Manero, who won the title in 1936, came back to defeat Arthur Lacey and William J. Cox, 2 and 1, after trailing by one down at 18 holes.

WALLACE GETS RETURN FIGHT

Hopes to Regain Canadian Welterweight Title From Genovese Monday

TORONTO—Confidence of Gordon Wallace of Vancouver he can regain the Canadian welterweight boxing crown from Frankie Genovese of Toronto in their 10-round title bout here Monday night has spurred the Toronto Italian to great training camp activity.

Wallace, after six weeks of training here, reported himself "in the pink" of condition for the first time since he came east. He has expressed confidence he can regain the championship from Genovese.

Tommy Bland, another Toronto welter, has signed for the semi-final against Billy Lee, an Indian from Vancouver.

New Westminster Whips Richmond

NEW WESTMINSTER—The league-leading New Westminster Salmonbellies recorded a 25 to 17 win over Richmond-Homes last night and lengthened their lead at the head of the pack in the race for honors in the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League.

Little Alf Davey led the Fishermen to victory with six goals, while Campbell had five.

BOXING

Washington—John Henry Lewis, 177, Phoenix, Ariz., world light heavyweight champion, outpointed Willie Reddish, 190, Philadelphia, 10, non-title.

Local Athletes Go to Vancouver

A squad of 18 of the city's finest tracksters and a team of 14 of the best local mermaids and mermen will invade the mainland tomorrow to compete in meets at Powell River and Vancouver on Dominion Day.

Archie McKinnon, coach of the Y.M.C.A. track team, is sending his girls' squad to Powell River, and will himself accompany the men's track and field squad to Vancouver for the annual police meet.

White Sox Hall of Fame

It is getting to be news when a Chicago White Sox pitcher does not have a no-hit, no-run game to his credit. When Bill Dietrich, bespectacled right-hander, hurled a no-hitter against the St. Louis Browns he became the third member of the staff with such a performance to his credit. Here the Pale Hose Hall of Famers discuss their achievements in the clubhouse. Left to right, they are Ted Lyons (against Red Sox, August 21, 1926); Dietrich, and Veron Kennedy (against Indians August 31, 1935). Charley Robertson pitched a perfect game for the Sox against Detroit in 1922 no Tiger reaching first base.

New Zealanders Force Test Draw

Time Limit Gives Touring Cricketers Even Break With England

LONDON (CP)—Defending stubbornly, New Zealand forced a draw in the cricket test match against England concluded today. Declaring at the lunch interval with a second innings total of 226 runs for four wickets, England set the touring players to make 356 for victory, and when time was called they had obtained 175 for eight wickets.

The New Zealanders were still at the wickets, starting second day's play today with 282 for nine on the board, but were soon dismissed. A. W. Roberts, not out with an overnight score of 58 runs to his credit, reached 66 after a stand that lasted two hours before the last wicket fell, Voce getting J. Cowie leg before after scoring only two runs. Roberts' two hours at the wickets put the visitors in sight of a draw. His well-timed driving was a delight to the crowd, and he had eight fours.

England's opening pair was dismissed cheaply. J. Parks went out in Cowie's second over with second runs and Leonard Hutton woman, upset the favored Chilean ace, Anita Lizna, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Marble will play Mme. Jedzejowska. Mme. Mathieu will meet Miss Round.
Showers delayed the start of the programme slightly.
The centre court stands were packed to their capacity of 15,000.
In the third round of men's doubles, Charles Hare and F. H. D. Wilde of Great Britain defeated their compatriots, H. G. N. Cooper and Robert Winkler, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

Fumiteru Nakano and Kiro Yamagishi of Japan defeated R. F. C. Nichols and D. H. Williams of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-4, 6-0.
Don Budge and Gene Mako of the United States entered the semi-finals with a 6-4, 6-4, 10-8 victory over Christian Boussus and Yvdon Petra of France.

WRESTLING
Denver—Everett Marshall, 220, La Junta, Colo., defeated Jim McMillen, 220, Chicago (two of three falls).

JAMES BAY IN LACROSSE WIN

Turn Back Thunderbirds 14 to 10; Match Scheduled Tomorrow Night

With Ed Pridham and Austin Cullin providing most of the scoring punch, nine goals between them, James Bay waltzed home for their first victory of the season when they humbled the Thunderbirds, 14 to 10, in a second division boxla game at the Athletic Park. Thunderbirds, sagged the hemp for the first marker of the game but the Bays soon forged their way to the front where they stayed for the remainder of the fixture.

The Bays were leading 8 to 4 at the halfway mark and rang up another five tallies in the following 15 minutes without a return from the opposing side. Thunderbirds rallied in the final quarter when they scored six goals but when the closing whistle sounded were still trailing their opponents by four goals. The Bays scored one marker in this quarter.

Pridham and Cullin netted nine goals between them, while Dakers scored two and Evans, Manson and Sothern one apiece, to account for the winners' total. High scorer for the Thunderbirds was Eric Holyoak with four goals. Hocking accounted for three, Sargent two and Vincent one.

Mel Lumley of the Thunderbirds and Stan Clark of the Bays won the lacrosse sticks presented by the Victoria Commission.

Undefeated this season, Oaklands and Fairfield Bluebirds, will meet tomorrow night at the Athletic Park, starting at 6.30. Ed Popham will referee. With two of the best teams in the league battling it out, this match should be a good one.

"Chuck" Chapman refereed.

The teams were:

James Bay—Dakers, Evans, Allan, Naysmith, Whitfield, Cullin, Pritchard, McDonald, Winterburn, Pritchard and Manson.
Thunderbirds—Mann, Hocking, Holyoak, Lumley, McKim, F. Sargent, Sargent, McKeachie, Malcolm, Anderson, Bailey, Vincent, Irish and Dalby.

Giants Can Move Back Into Lead

Meet Lowly Opposition As
Cards and Cubs Go Up Against Each Other

For the sake of their pennant chances, it is to be hoped that the New York giants have studied closely the parable of the little dog that ran away with the bone while the two big dogs were fighting over it.

The Giants today found themselves in much the same spot as that smart little pup. While, from now until the all-star game on July 7, they will be disputing against the National League's second division outfits, the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs will play each other five times.

Today the standings found the Cubs in front by seven points and half a game over the Cards, ten points and half a game over the Giants. While the two front runners are knocking each other off the Cubs also have a four-game set with the Pittsburgh Pirates on tap—a reasonable amount of the "breaks" may bring the New Yorkers back into the lead they relinquished to Chicago just two weeks ago.

The Cubs are going to be tough to dislodge. Their pitching staff is showing up well.

Larry French, Charley Root and Tex Carleton are bracketed at the four-won notch. Next comes Ray Parmelee, at five, then Clay Bryant and Clyde Shoun, tied at six, with Bill Lee tops at seven.

The Cardinals' pitching strength is almost entirely concentrated in three men, Dizzy Dean, who has won eleven games; Lonnie Warneke, who has won nine and lefty Bob Weil, and, who has won six.

COAST LEAGUE
Sacramento and the San Francisco Seals, one-two in the Coast

League baseball standings, eyed the booming San Diego Padres with trepidation today.

San Diego was the only team in the first four to fatten its percentage last week, and did it more ways than one. Six games behind the first place Solons a week ago, the Padres in third place were only five behind today after taking six out of seven from the Portland Beavers.

The Padres went from fourth place to a three-way tie for team batting honors. Rupert Thompson, one of their most consistent batsmen, replaced Art Garibaldi, Sacramento's slugging Italian, as the league's best individual hitter. Other teams tied with the Padres in hitting were Los Angeles and San Francisco. Each had an average of .290.

San Diego has not lost a series on its home diamond this season, and entertains the Los Angeles aggregation this week as Sacramento invades Portland. An improved Oakland team goes to Seattle, where it will try again to win its first series of the season.

San Francisco, its pitching staff much in need of rest and reinforcements, opens against the lowly, but dangerous and hard hitting home town rivals the Mission Reds tonight.

STAR NINES ARE CHOSEN

National and American Leagues Select Players For
All-star Game July 7

NEW YORK—Headed by a trio of the greatest pitchers in baseball—Carl Hubbell, Dizzy Dean and Van Lingle Mungo—Bill Terry's National League forces stacked up as 8 to 5 favorites to whip Joe McCarthy's Americans in the all-star game at Washington, July 7.

When either Dean, Hubbell or Mungo start a ball game his team is favored. But when each one is assigned to "bear down" for three innings apiece, it's that much tougher for the opposition. Sideliners think Terry will start Hubbell and then follow with Dean and Mungo in that order.

On the basis of averages in the respective leagues, the Nations also seem to have more punch than their rivals who have won three out of four of the all-star games. Omitting the pitchers, the senior circuit stars, possess a combined batting average of .399 as against one of .322 for the American Leaguers, although it must be remembered that one game doesn't mean much to batting averages.

McCarthy and Terry say they won't announce their starting line-ups until next Monday but the general guess is that the teams will feature these operatives:

Americans—Rolf, New York, 3b; DiMaggio, New York, lf; Gehrig, Detroit, 2b; Gehrig, New York, 1b; Cronin, Boston, ss; Bell, St. Louis, rf; Walker, Detroit, cf; Dickey, New York, catcher; pitchers, Grove, Boston; Bridges, Detroit, and Gomez, New York.

Nationals—Martin, St. Louis, cf; Bartell, New York, ss; Paul Waner, Pittsburgh, rf; Medwick, St. Louis, lf; Mize, St. Louis, 1b; Herman, Chicago, 2b; Vaughan, Pittsburgh, 3b; Hartnett, Chicago, catcher; pitchers, Hubbell, Dean and Mungo.

HOLIDAY BOWLING

The Victoria West Lawn Bowling Club will stage its usual holiday game on July 1, commencing at 2. A doubles game will be played and a cordial invitation is extended to visitors. Prizes will be awarded the highest score.

STEVEDORES BEAT BRUINS

Win Moves Longshoremen
Into Second Place in A
Section Softball Race

Painter's Bruins, who have held second place of the A section softball race since the season was ushered in, were forced to vacate their spot today in favor of the Victoria Longshoremen. The change came as a result of the freight haulers 5 to 0 victory over the Bruins last night at Victoria West Park.

The Longshoremen pushed across their opening marker in the sixth frame and after a scoreless seventh inning brought their heavy artillery into action in the next session to score four runs, and retired Harold Turner, Bruins' pitcher, to the showers.

Glendenning was put on the hillcock and although he stopped the stevedores, the damage had been done.

Husky Bill Tesky went the distance for the winners. The big man hurled good ball and got excellent support.

Score by innings:
Painter's Bruins 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Longshoremen 0 0 0 0 1 0 4 x 5
Batteries—Turner, Glendenning, Berry; Tesky and M. McBride.

James Island triumphed over North Saanich 12 to 11 at Sidney. A ninth-inning attack that netted them three markers gave the Islanders their victory. It was the second win of the season for the powdermen, but failed to improve their position in the pennant chase. They are holding down the cellar slot.

RETURN FROM JAPAN VISIT

After spending two months in Japan visiting all the points of tourist interest and attending the Coronation garden party at the Canadian Legation in Tokio, S. J. Halls, manager of the light and power department of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, returned by the C.P.R. liner Empress of Japan today.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Halls and their son and daughter, Rowland and Marion.

"The Japanese are a very progressive people and can be relied upon to keep abreast of the times," said Mr. Halls, commenting on his observations while on the other side of the Pacific.

"They are doing good work in all lines," he said when asked if the Japanese could teach him anything about light and power.

While in Tokio Mr. and Mrs. Halls were entertained at lunch by Hon. Randolph Bruce, Canadian minister to Japan. They visited Yokohama, Kobe, Osaka, Kyoto, Nikko and Hikone, in the mountains.

Japan Fair To Outside Capital

Officer of Korean Gold Company Talks of Trade and War Prospects

"People have the wrong idea that the Japanese have done anything to the foreigners. I don't know of any country, except perhaps the United States and England, where foreign capital is so well treated," said S. M. Rubinstein, official of an Anglo-Japanese gold mining company in Korea, interviewed at Empress Hotel this morning as he passed briefly before leaving for Seattle. Mr. Rubinstein will fly from Seattle to New York following one of his yearly trips to the Korean holdings. He arrived here on the R.M.S. Empress of Japan this morning from Shanghai.

"The Japanese want to buy out foreign capital and they offer reasonable prices," he went on. "The foreigner is eliminated from Japanese business to a certain extent by the fact that Japanese labor is cheaper and wants less leisure. They are able either to undersell the foreign or else offer a better price for his holdings."

Japan and Manchukuo last year produced $75,000,000 worth of gold, he said. In a year or two their output would reach the $100,000,000 mark.

WAR PROSPECTS

Mr. Rubinstein was uncertain about the prospects of war in the Orient. "I think any predictions on politics are like guessing where the ball will fall on a roulette wheel. There are so many unknown quantities you cannot guess accurately. But I do believe that if there is a European war involving Russia, Japan will wait to see which is going to be the winning side before attacking Russia."

"When everyone else is busy in Europe, I think Japan will completely dominate, if not annex China," he added.

Dinner Dances Will Resume

Abandoned since 1929 because of the depression, the Empress Hotel's nightly dinner dances will start again in the Tudor Grill on Thursday evening. Billy Tickle's orchestra will play from 7 to 9 every evening except Saturday and Sunday. The Saturday night supper dances will continue in the ballroom.

The Empress is looking for its busiest days so far this season next week-end, with the United States celebrating its Independence Day holiday on Monday, July 5, instead of Sunday.

HERE TO AVOID CHINA SUMMER

Business Improving in Shanghai, Says C. C. Robinson

Business in China has improved a lot in the last year—but more for the Chinese themselves than for foreigners, said C. C. Robinson on his arrival at the Empress Hotel from Shanghai this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson plan to spend two months on Vancouver Island escaping the heat of the Shanghai summer. They have never been here before, although they have seen the city from ships inbound from the Orient.

The Chinese amah who accompanied them on their arrival was a colorful figure in the lobby of the hotel this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sherman of Honolulu are planning a stay which may extend more than two months, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Other arrivals from Honolulu at the Empress Hotel this morning included Mr. and Mrs. A. Waterhouse, who plan to remain in the city for ten days, and Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Beardmore.

OLDER HOMES ARE PROBLEM

Some Will Revert, Unless Made Revenue-producing, City Council Is Told

The large, old homes in Victoria are creating a problem, and unless something is done to make them revenue producing the city will find them reverting for taxes, aldermen pointed out at yesterday evening's meeting of the City Council.

The matter was brought up when M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett, city lands commissioner, asked that powers of the zoning board of appeal regarding conversions of old properties be immediately clarified.

After lengthy debate the council referred the matter to the lands committee and the city solicitor for further detailed investigation and a full report.

Alderman Archie Willis said that unless the zoning by-law were altered to permit some of the older homes to be converted into apartment houses, the properties would unquestionably revert to the city. If that happened, what would the city do with the house, he asked. It would be much better, he felt, to give permission for apartment houses which would be revenue-producing to the owners and to the city in the form of taxes.

Permission was recently asked, Alderman R. A. C. Dewar pointed out, to build several additional garages for the convenience of a large home which the owners intended to convert into an apartment house. Neighbors objected to the garages.

Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan wondered why some old houses in the Rockland Avenue area had been converted into apartments and the owners of other homes, not as close to Government House, had been refused permission to convert.

The proposed plans for a number of the old homes would make no difference to the exterior, Alderman Dewar said. The only difference to the properties would be the addition of several garages.

Some member of the council questioned the right of the zoning board of appeal to have the final say over the plans and specifications regarding the conversion of residence into apartment houses. Members of the zoning board are S. M. Armstrong, chairman; W. P. Marchant and E. E. Heath.

Alderman W. T. Straith said he believed the board should not be interfered with, unless the council, as a body, wanted to visit the various homes concerned. If all the residents within blocks objected to garages being added to a home, there was nothing that could be done about it, he pointed out.

WOMAN TELLS OF BEATING

Police Investigate Report She Was Thrown to Road After Assault

The report of an Esquimalt woman that she was attacked and beaten during a car ride early this morning, then thrown to the road in front of her home, was being investigated today by city and Esquimalt police.

The woman, meanwhile, was in St. Joseph's Hospital, recovering from injuries about the face.

She was found by police shortly before 2 o'clock this morning at the Tudor Lunchroom, Esquimalt Road, where the proprietor reported she had come a few minutes before.

She reported to the police she had been for a drive with two men and another woman, following a party in a local apartment house.

Detectives Henry F. Jarvis and William Stark, from the city, and Chief H. W. Pecknold, Esquimalt, investigated the report and visited the apartment where the woman said she had been.

Police said members of the party had been drinking and the laying of any charges would be left to the woman.

PATTERN FOR CITIZENSHIP

Dr. H. T. J. Coleman Tells Club Part of Individual As Stone in Arch

A pattern for citizenship, based not on loyalty to a village or to a continent but on a conception of the part of the individual as that of a stone in an arch, was given to the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon today by Dr. H. T. J. Coleman, head of the department of philosophy at the University of British Columbia.

Dr. Coleman entitled his address "What Is a Canadian?" and looked for his answer not to Canadian history but to the parallel story of the United States, holding the same continent in a joint trusteeship with common ideals. He found the basis for his pattern in the American Declaration of Independence: "The inalienable and unalterable rights . . . to life, to liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

"As Canadians, as sharing in the western spirit and as being influenced by and also perhaps influencing in turn the people of the United States, we share also in that noble grandiose conception which, though coming from France, has a definitely Anglo-Saxon quality and is rooted in the history of humanity as a whole," he said.

In his analysis of the three sections of the ideal expressed in those words of the Declaration of Independence, he pictured the urge for life as the driving power behind all animal creation, and liberty as the fundamental of spiritual growth, so deeply seated in human nature and reality that it went deeper than intellect and was impossible of accurate definition.

ORDERED LIBERTY

This deep-seated feeling for liberty implied ordered liberty, not license, he said. It was a liberty compatible with law and government.

Of the third ideal, he said happiness could never be attained by pursuit. It came always as an incidental, a by-product of the ordered social life which devolved from the urge for liberty.

The task of the individual and of the community, said Dr. Coleman, was to create an ordered system of loyalties and to harmonize the conflicting elements of those loyalties. National loyalties must be fitted into the wider pattern of loyalty that the world required at the present time.

"CANADA LIES BEYOND"

He recalled the story of the naming of this country, how the French navigators of the St. Lawrence asked what was ahead of them, and the Indians replied "Canada lies beyond," speaking the name of a village which later dignified the greater half of a continent.

"We can think in terms of our village or in terms of our continent—but we must go beyond. The part that each individual fills is like that of a stone in an arch, small but indispensable," he said. Dr. Coleman was introduced by Ralph Matthews and thanked by Dr. S. J. Willis. Arthur Dowell, vice-president of the club, was in the chair.

To conserve raw materials, Germany prohibits making 100 rubber articles, including toy balloons, bathing slippers and tobacco pouches, except for export sale.

Council Authorizes Transfer of Several Pieces of Tax-sale Property

On the recommendation of the lands and zoning committee, composed of Aldermen R. A. C. Dewar, John Worthington and Archie Willis, several parcels of city property were ordered transferred to new owners by the City Council yesterday evening.

A lot on the east side of Carberry Gardens was sold to Ken P. Irvine of 1434 Mitchell Street and W. B. Dillabough of 2655 Avebury Avenue for $400. It is the intention of the purchasers to convert the old dwelling into a two-suite apartment house at an estimated cost of $1,500. This property reverted to the city at the 1934 tax sale.

A lot on the north side of Northcott Avenue, Burleigh subdivision, the Gorge, which reverted to the city in 1919 was sold to James Kennedy for $150.

A lot on the north side of Lionel Street, which reverted in 1934, was ordered sold to Arthur Thripplenton of 1547 Morley Street for $50.

A lot on the northwest corner of Craigflower Road and Coventry Street was ordered transferred to Wm. H. Davies for $50; a lot of the north side of Hillside Avenue, east of Shelbourne Street, was sold to James Mullard of 3107 Shelbourne Street for $75.

The committee reported the building at 1929 Chambers Street was in an exceedingly dilapidated condition and not worth repairing and recommended it be condemned and ordered demolished.

FERRY RATES BECOME ISSUE

Investigation Ordered to Determine if Action Violates Contract

SEATTLE—King County commissioners ordered an investigation yesterday of whether the increased ferry rates violate the Black Ball ferry line's contract with the county. Action followed complaints from Vashon islanders.

The company operates to the island through a county lease. The county formerly served the island.

The Seattle Times said Prosecutor Ralph E. Purves of Port Orchard, informed it he would ask Governor Clarence Martin to call a special session of the Legislature to enact laws turning ferry operation over to the state.

It quoted him as abandoning his earlier plans to enjoin the Puget Sound Navigation Company's increased rates, because he did not believe such an injunction could be obtained.

SEATTLE, Wash.—An investigation of ferry-boat rates will start in Seattle today, public service director F. J. Schaaf said. W. W. Chamberlain, chief of the Washington State tariff division and rate expert of the service commission, will conduct the probe.

Operators will be asked to reduce fares immediately, Schaaf said, if a preliminary survey satisfied him increases were excessive.

Hongkong Now Enjoying Boom

China Coming Out All Right, Says David Drummond of C.P.R.

"Hongkong is enjoying something in the nature of a boom," said David Drummond, Oriental manager for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Hongkong, on his arrival here today by the Empress of Japan. Shipbuilding is going on at a great pace, he said.

He stopped off here with Mrs. Drummond to join their daughter who has been attending St. Margaret's School.

Mr. Drummond made the observation that the British financial missions had accomplished excellent work in China.

"China is going to come out all right," he said.

The C.P.R. Oriental manager explained that his present trip was in the nature of a holiday, which would be spent in London.

He expects to return to China in two months.

Roosevelt Signs Halibut Measure

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt signed yesterday the "Northern Pacific Halibut Act of 1937," putting into effect a convention with Canada signed this year designed to protect fisheries of the North Pacific Ocean and the Bering Sea.

The convention restricts halibut fishing in United States territorial waters to American citizens, and gives Canadians exclusive rights to Canadian waters. Senator Schwellenbach (Democrat, Wash.) said he planned to draft legislation to similarly protect the northern Pacific salmon fisheries.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

R.M.S. Empress of Japan Arrives From Orient With 580 Travelers—Sir Robert Holland, Slamese Government Advisor, and Louis Beale, British Commercial Counsellor at Shanghai, Aboard

Economic advisers, trade ambassadors, consular officials, lecturers, businessmen and world travelers were among the 580 passengers aboard the R.M.S. Empress of Japan, Capt. L. D. Douglas, when she docked at Pier 2 at 8:15 this morning from the Orient.

The C.P.R. liner brought in 320 first class from China, Japan and the Philippines, an additional 116 boarded the ship at Honolulu, while in the stateroom quarters were 145 Chinese.

Through travelers of note were Sir Louis Beale, British commercial counsellor at Shanghai, en route to England on holiday, and Sir Robert Holland, well-known barrister of London, England, who has been acting as judicial advisor to the Slamese government.

Bronzed by the Hawaiian sun after spending five weeks at Honolulu, W. M. Neal, vice-president of Canadian Pacific Railway's western lines, Winnipeg, with Mrs. Neal, returned today by the Japan.

Another prominent Canadian Pacific traveler aboard was David Drummond, Oriental manager for the company at Hongkong, bound for London.

Some artistic photographs of the Orient countries were brought back by Dugald Black of Detroit, Mich., who has been doing special photographic work for the C.P.R. in Japan and China.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Breeze of Portage, Wisconsin, returned by the ship from an extensive Oriental tour. Mr. Breeze is a prominent manufacturer and banker of Portage, while his wife writes under the pen name of Zona Gale.

Among the many passengers routed through to United States points who debarked here were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Guggenheim from Kobe, Japan. Mr. Guggenheim is principal of the Japan Import and Export Commission and is one of the veteran travelers of the Pacific, having made his first trip here in 1887 by the Ss. Parthia.

Another coming ashore here was Branson de Cou, United States lecturer, returning from Honolulu, where he gathered material for a new illustrated lecture in the Hawaiian Islands, accompanied by Mrs. de Cou.

From Australia via the Orient came N. Roy McMorran, traffic agent at Sydney, N.S.W., for the C.P.R., and Mrs. McMorran. They were greeted at the dock by Mr. and Mrs. E. William Swedberg of Portland, Ore., who motored up from the states to greet their old friends. Mr. Swedberg is the Pacific Northwest representative of the West Publishing Company of St. Paul, Minn. He was busy with his cine-kodak as the liner warped alongside.

One of the men who has for years been associated with the shipbuilding and ship repair industry at Hongkong, who has now retired, is K. E. Greig, manager of the Taikoo Dockyard and Engineering Company Ltd. He is en route to the British Isles with Mrs. Greig.

Victoria travelers returning after a tour of Japan were Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Halls and their son and daughter, Rowland and Marion. Mr. Halls is manager of the light and power department of the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

Three tour parties will sail by the American Mail Line Ss. President Jackson when she gets away from this port Saturday for the Orient.

Fifteen travelers will comprise the Blue Pacific Orient summer tour arranged by the Bell-Irving Travel Service of Vancouver, with Miss Violet MacKay acting as hostess. This group will tour Japan and China and will return here August 18.

Dr. Howard H. Martin and Dr. Frances M. Earle, experienced world travelers, will have charge of the Far East cruise, with an itinerary embracing Japan, Korea, Manchukuo, China and the Philippines.

Dr. Martin is chairman of the department of geography at the University of Washington, and president of the Association of Pacific Coast Geographers. MOLLISON ON NEW COURSE

British Flier Plans Flight to Australia Via Moscow and Tibet

NEW YORK—Jimmy Mollison, British flier, arrived on the Normandie yesterday seeking a plane to fly from England to Australia on the great circle course.

"I would fly from England by way of Moscow, Southern Russia, Tibet, French Indo-China and finally to Darwin, Australia. It would be a flight of about 9,000 miles," Mollison said.

He said it was difficult to find a suitable plane in England, "because everything is being bought for the expansion of the air force."

Inquiry Into Navy Mishap

LOS ANGELES—A navy court of inquiry is expected this week to investigate the sinking of the navy mine sweeper Sanderling, about 1,500 miles off the California coast.

The Sanderling sank, without loss of life, Saturday while the navy tanker Cuyama was towing her from Honolulu to the Mare Island navy yard.

Cause of the accident was not disclosed in reports to fleet headquarters. The Sanderling was decommissioned in 1922.

Vancouver Shipping

VANCOUVER—British Columbia Packers will introduce a power scow to coast salmon grounds this season, it was announced here. The GMT will leave Wednesday for Namu, proceeding under her own power. She is 60 feet long and has a beam of 20 feet.

The vessel, which will carry fish off from the canneries on Smith and River inlets, has a power plant of 175 horse power engine which enables her to shift without assistance of a tug. She draws little water, and her propeller is protected to permit her to move safely across gill nets and seines.

Power scows have been used in Alaska fishing grounds, but never before in British Columbia. Ss. Prince Rupert sailed from Vancouver for her name port last night, Capt. Neil MacLean commanding. She carried a capacity passenger list, which included assistant commissioner T. W. S. Parsons and his staff, en route to Tweedsmuir Park for a preliminary survey of the ground to be covered by the Governor-General on his forthcoming visit.
